

BALKAN STATES ARE FIGHTING FIERCELY

REPORTS INDICATE GREAT BATTLES BEING FOUGHT IN EUROPEAN TURKEY.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE

Grecian Troops Report Slight Advantages in Today's Engagements—Bulgarians Taken Prisoners.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Oct. 23.—Heavy fighting is proceeding on every side of the Balkan peninsula and competent quarters are inclined to believe that the conflicts are much more serious than official reports would indicate. While the allied armies of Bulgaria, Serbia, Montenegro and Greece doubtless have had the best of the preliminary skirmishes and continue to take small Turkish fortresses, villages and towns, it remains to be seen which side will be most successful in the main theatre of the war.

Both Turks and Bulgarians claim to be advancing in the vicinity of Adrianople and the public is left to choose for itself between the various statements given in the official reports, as all independent observers, correspondents and military attaches are being kept in the rear.

Everything seems to indicate, however, that the Bulgarians have deployed the bulk of their main army from the Mustapha Pasha—Adrianople line to the Djumala-Kirk-Kiliseh line and are attacking the Turkish front between the last named place and Adrianople, while enveloping the extreme Turkish right to the east of Kirk-Kiliseh. From this latter point reports have reached here of serious battles, the details of which, however, are withheld.

The Serbians, who are more free with news about their operations, continue their advance. One of their armies has taken the town of Prishtina and another is at the gates of Kuberova. An official report by the Serbian commander says Turkish troops after offering a desperate resistance are falling back along the whole front line and in their precipitate retreats are leaving behind them quantities of supplies and ammunition.

Around the town of Novipazar brisk fighting has been in progress for several days and the Serbians are said to have suffered severe losses. They have captured some of the surrounding towns, although Novipazar itself is holding out.

Most of the Serbian success has been won over the mixed forces of Albanian tribesmen and Turkish irregulars. They will not come into contact with the trained Turkish troops until they reach Uskup. Greek official reports disagree as to the situation on the Greek frontier. One of them reports heavy fighting on the road between the town of Ellassona and the Turkish base at the town of Servia, while another declares that the Turks are in full retreat.

A similar state of affairs existed yesterday when the Greeks gave out that the Turks were flying and it turned out later that a big battle was going on which had not concluded when darkness stopped it. All the armies in the field are hampered by their wounded.

A message received here from Constantinople by indirect route and dated Oct. 22, says the Turkish fleet has left a force of about 1000 men to carry out the blockade of the Bulgarian coast. The Greek naval forces are divided into three flotillas, one of which assisted in the landing of Greek troops at Catarrina on the Gulf of Saloniki. Another is holding Lemnos, and a third is bombarding the Turkish port of Provessa.

Grecian Victories.

Athens, Greece, Oct. 23.—A battle which lasted all day yesterday between strong forces of Turks and Greek troops on the road from the Greek frontier between Ellassona and the Turkish headquarters at the town of Servia is to be continued today.

Gen. P. Danglis the commander of the Greek army sent a dispatch to the war office from the Turkish village of Desaniza, timed 9:20 last evening saying:

"Our troops have approached the Turkish position and remain there. Only darkness stopped the battle which will be resumed tomorrow morning."

The Greek army defeated the Turkish troops this morning beyond Ellassona after a vigorous attack and the Turks are now retreating to the town of Servia, according to a dispatch from Crown Prince Constantine of Greece, commanding chief of the Greek army.

The Crown Prince telegraphs that the Turkish army composed of 22 battalions of infantry and 6 batteries of artillery was compelled to abandon its position and retired before the Greek onslaught. The order has been given for a general pursuit by the Greek army. The Crown Prince has established his headquarters at Khanafjogogo.

Bulgarian Prisoners.

London, Oct. 23.—About 1,000 Bulgarian prisoners of war have arrived in Constantinople, according to a special dispatch from the Turkish capital.

The important Turkish town of Novipazar in the district of the same name, was captured by the Serbians today after severe fighting, according to a news agency dispatch from Nish, Serbia. Both armies suffered heavy losses.

Hard Fighting.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 23.—Terrific fighting was in progress today along the entire Bulgarian frontier, according to official dispatches. The Bulgarian forces were operating against Adrianople, which is situated to the west of the Turkish stronghold. After a sharp engagement the Turks fled in disorder, leaving 100 dead. To the north of Adrianople several ad-

FEAR FOR THE LIFE OF RUSSIAN PRINCE

Anxiety Felt Throughout St. Petersburg in Regard to Condition of Grand Duke Alexis.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

St. Petersburg, Oct. 23.—The condition of the Russian crown prince is causing the greatest anxiety at the imperial courts and among the general public. Although information is published in bulletins the strictest silence is preserved in regard to the nature of the accident met with by the Grand Duke Alexis. That it was a serious one is indicated by the telegraphic summons sent to Dr. Bauchfuss, the court physician, who attends on the imperial children to proceed at once to Spala in Russian Poland where he arrived today. Religious services at which prayers were offered for the recovery of the heir to the throne were held at Spala yesterday by the minister of the imperial household, a number of court officials, soldiers and servants attending. A midnight service was also held at the Iversky chapel of the Virgin at Moscow, a shrine which is held in the highest veneration. The conservative and nationalist unions are holding services at their headquarters in St. Petersburg today.

PRESIDENT ON AUTO TRIP THROUGH MAINE

Taft Accompanied by Wife and Daughter and Secretary Knox Leaves Beverly Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 23.—Beverly's glory as the summer capital grew dim today when President Taft packed away his golf sticks and climbed aboard the White House automobile with Mrs. Taft, Miss Helen and Secretary of State Knox to end his vacation in the north with a three day motor trip into the heart of Maine. The president's lease on Barramatta expires this year and the Beverlies do not look for his return, matter how the November election goes. Mr. Taft has spent four summers near Beverly and his family have become familiar figures on the roads about the summer capital known to most of the inhabitants of this little eastern Massachusetts city.

TAFT GIVES ADDRESS TO NAVY YARD MEN

Was Guest of Citizens of Portsmouth Today—Talks to School Children of Kittery Point.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Portsmouth, N. H., Oct. 23.—President Taft was entertained here this afternoon. He was met at Northampton by a number of citizens and escorted to the city. The president visited the navy-yard and the building where peace between Japan and Russia was arranged. After addressing Taft talked to the school children of Kittery Point and made a speech before a large audience at the Portsmouth playgrounds. The presidential party later visited Dover.

COURT DECIDES FOR THE TAFT ELECTORS

Nebraska Supreme Court Decides Taft Men Are Entitled to Designation "Republican."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 23.—The state supreme court shortly after noon today handed down an unanimous decision holding that 6 Taft electors chosen by the republican state committee together with the 2 republican electors chosen at the spring primary, who remained loyal to the designation "republican" on the ballot in the general election and to a place at the top of the ballot.

IOWA CITIES IN RIVALRY FOR EASTERN STAR HOME.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 23.—The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Iowa grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, which settled down to business here today, is featured by a spirited contest of rival cities to select the Eastern Star Masonic home. The home was formerly located at Boone, but it was destroyed by fire last spring. Boone is making a strong effort to have it rebuilt there, while Marshalltown and Cedar Rapids are offering strong inducements to secure the institution.

WANTS INSTRUCTION OF BIBLE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Portland, Ore., Oct. 23.—Maintaining that the Bible is the world's standard of morals, Mrs. Gene B. Willie of Pennsylvania urged the need of biblical instruction in the public schools today before the educational department of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union in annual session here. The social evil was discussed in the departmental conference today. It was expected that the national union would adopt a resolution protesting against the sale of so-called near beer at United States army posts. Present officers probably will be re-elected.

HIGH PRICES CAUSE HOUSEWIVES' RIOT

Berlin Women in Angry Protest at Meat Dealers Who Refuse to Sell Imported Goods.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, Germany, Oct. 23.—Hundreds of Berlin housewives joined in a wild riot today because the butchers in the municipal markets refused to handle meat imported so as to reduce the cost of living. The principal riot occurred in the wedding district which is entirely inhabited by working people. Hundreds of women who went to the municipal markets hoping to profit by reduced prices found that the butchers had agreed not to deal in meat imported by the municipality. They then stormed the butchers' stalls, seized all the native raised meat, trampled it on the ground and fought with the butchers. The police were forced to close the market to stop the riot.

The prices are so high in Berlin that the government recently gave permission to the city authorities to bring in and sell meat from abroad at the city markets and to control the prices. The butchers at first agreed to handle these meats, but late last evening announced they had decided on a general boycott of them in the twelve municipal markets of Berlin. The municipality declares its intention of punishing the butchers by cancelling their licenses.

COLONEL WILL SEE NO VISITORS TODAY

Roosevelt Refreshed After Long Night's Sleep But Physicians Insist on Absolute Quiet.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oyster Bay, Oct. 23.—A long night's sleep largely offset the wearisome effects of Col. Roosevelt's trip from Chicago to Oyster Bay and he was greatly refreshed, when he awoke this morning. Word was given out that no visitors would be permitted to see Col. Roosevelt today. His physicians told him yesterday that he must see no one until Thursday and that upon his obedience of their order for absolute rest might depend his chances of resuming the work of the campaign later. Tomorrow if the patient continues to improve he probably will see George W. Perkins, Senator Dixon, William H. Hotchkiss, New York state progressive chairman and a few other leaders for a short conference at which he will once more take charge of the affairs of the party.

The colonel's physicians were expected at Sagamore Hill this afternoon to dress his wounds.

MADE CONTRIBUTION TO HELP BEVERIDGE

Law Partner of Indiana Senator Says Perkins and Pinchot Sent Drafts Amounting to $57,500.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Oct. 23.—Larz A. Whitcomb, a law partner of former Senator Albert J. Beveridge to Indiana testified today that George W. Perkins, Edward McLean and Gifford Pinchot sent drafts amounting to $57,500 to Beveridge for his 1904 campaign. Mr. Perkins had testified he sent only $10,000 and that Beveridge had returned it.

Whitcomb testified that $30,000 came from Mr. Perkins, $25,000 from Edward McLean, a cousin of Beveridge, and $2,500 from Gifford Pinchot. He then went on to explain that Beveridge returned the drafts the day after election. Mr. Whitcomb explained that Perkins and Beveridge had worked together when Beveridge was a book agent and Perkins an insurance agent in Indiana. This friendship, he said, was the cause of the Perkins contribution.

DAVENPORT GREEKS LEAVE FOR GREECE

Company of Three Hundred Men Departed Today From City to Fight for Country Against The Turks.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Davenport, Iowa, Oct. 23.—Following a parade today 300 Greeks knelt in the street to pray before leaving home to fight the Turks. Their priest gave them his blessing and as their train left the station the recruits gave a cheer for the American flag. 300 Greeks and 140 Bulgarians have now left Davenport to return home to fight taking with them about $30,000 in savings and leaving many manufacturers and contractors short handed.

ASKS FOR ACQUITTAL OF LIEUT. BECKER

Attorney McIntyre Discredits Jack Rose's Story and Pleads to Jury in Behalf of Client.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Oct. 23.—"Not a single person save the self-confessed murderer Jack Rose, ever has connected Becker with these gun-men—Jack Rose, the hell of assassins, the hell of robbers who boil and kill men," in these words John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for police lieutenant Charles Becker on trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, today sounded the key-note of an appeal to the jurors to acquit his client of the murder.

He told the jurors that in the first place they must find before convicting Becker that the four gunmen were guilty of the killing, otherwise the case will fall. Rose could not be leveled he charged, because he was testifying to save his own life. Sam Schepers, Bridget Webber and Harry Valon were denounced as "murderers" with the same object in view.

He attacked the credibility of state's corroborating witnesses—Luban and Hallen—and charged that the district attorney "framed up by copwork." Becker sat with closed eyes during the trial. His wife wept. The state sums up this afternoon.

LUCILE CAMERON IS STILL BEFORE JURY

White Girl Continues Story of Relations With Negro Pugilist on Grand Jury Witness Stand.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Nervous and weakened after her collapse on the witness stand yesterday, Lucile Cameron, the girl whose infatuation for Jack Johnson, the pugilist led to a federal investigation and the arrest of the negro on a charge of abduction, again appeared before the grand jury today on continue her story. It is reported that a reconciliation between the girl and her mother, Mrs. E. Cameron-Falconet, of Minneapolis, has been effected and that after the court's proceedings here have been ended, the girl will go away with her mother. Joseph Levy, the negro's secretary, appeared before the grand jury today.

CHINESE STUDENTS DEFY AUTHORITIES

Men in Army School Charge Misappropriation of Funds and Seize Guns and Fortifications.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Oct. 23.—The Chicago Daily News today received the following special cable dispatch from Peking, China: "Tuan Chih Jui, the minister of war, has gone to Pao-fu to settle a dispute between the authorities and the students of the army school there. The students claiming that the authorities had misappropriated the funds, seized the school artillery and machine guns, fortified themselves on the campus and defied the authorities."

This is the largest military school in China and corresponds to West Point in the United States.

The provincial government of Manchuria has borrowed for current expenses one million yen ($500,000) from the Okura company of Japan. Interest is to be paid at the rate of 7 1/2 percent. The issue is at 95 and the security is the Panshi coal mines. The loan which is payable in three years, was signed yesterday.

COMMISSION FINDS PROGRESS IN WORK

State Highways Show Big Improvement Under State Aid Plan Say Member of Commission.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 23.—The state highway commission was much pleased with the progress of highway construction under the new state aid plan, on its return from an inspection trip last week. The members visited the experimental roads in the Fox River valley, including two pieces of concrete road near Oshkosh and Fond du Lac respectively, which appear to be giving excellent service thus far. These are the only concrete roads in the state. The cost per square yard is about 90 cents. Concrete will be used almost entirely on the Milwaukee county roads next year.

The commission also visited Florence county on the northern state line. This the least wealthy county in the state has under state aid built what State Highway Engineer A. R. Hirst calls several miles of the best roads in Wisconsin.

"These roads in Florence county," he said, "are built of lean iron ore rock, are sixteen feet wide, and cost about $2,500 a mile. It will undoubtedly result in a great development of the county for farming and touring traffic."

The commission also visited Door county, which has for many years been building limestone macadam roads.

"Here we saw one stretch of macadam roads twenty-one miles long, with only two short gaps, leading from Sturgeon Bay to Egg Harbor and beyond," said Mr. Hirst. "This is interesting as being the main approach to the new state park in Door county. The roads in Door county are averaging about $1,600 a mile for construction. This is believed to be the lowest cost for similar roads anywhere in the United States, and is made possible entirely by the abundance of stone available."

MISSING MAN FOUND BY PENSION OFFICE?

Oshkosh Man, Who Disappeared Thirty-five Years Ago, Thought To Be Living in Ohio.

Oshkosh, Wis., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Minnie Mentzel, and her son Julius have not secured any further information regarding the alleged discovery that the former's husband and the latter's father, Robert Mentzel have been found alive and well. They will take steps to learn whether he is really alive and until they get information will not discuss the matter. It has been reported that Mentzel who has been missing from Oshkosh for 35 years is living at Dayton, Ohio, and that he applied for a soldier's pension and the government agent made the discovery that Mrs. Mentzel was living here and drawing a pension as Mentzel's widow. Mrs. Mentzel's pension has not been discontinued.

CALLS FOX RIVER VALLEY TUBERCULOSIS HOT BED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Neenah, Oct. 23.—That the Fox river valley has the highest percentage of deaths from tuberculosis of any community in the United States except New York City was the startling statement made here at a public meeting by Miss Tate of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. Miss Tate said that in three years there were 1,100 deaths from the white plague in the Fox river valley. She is visiting Valley counties in an effort to have a sanitarium built for the joint use of adjacent counties.

TO HOLD ELECTIONS IN ALL STATES ONE WEEK FROM TUESDAY

Forty-Six to Elect Representatives in Next Congress—Twenty-Nine Vote For State Officers.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—One week from next Tuesday the voters in the forty-eight states of the Union will express their preferences for president and vice president of the United States. In forty-six of the states representatives in the next Congress—the Sixty-third—will be named. Twenty-nine states will vote for governors and other state officers and in half a dozen other minor states officials are to be elected. Maine, Vermont, Arkansas and Georgia have held their state elections, but the two latter states will, on November 5, elect representatives to congress. Maine and Vermont have already chosen their congressmen as well as state officers.

The states that will elect governors are Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Nebraska, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Utah.

The electoral disputes arising between the regular republicans and the progressives have been settled in practically all of the states. Confusion still exists however, in regard to some of the state tickets. Straight republican tickets have been named in all of the states, excepting one or two in the South. The democrats have tickets in all of the states in which elections will be held. The new third party has put up a separate ticket in all of the states in which the regular republican nominees were not satisfactory to the "progressives." The socialists have named candidates for governor and other state officers in twenty-seven states. The prohibition party has complete state tickets in twenty-one states. In addition, tickets of the socialist labor, independent socialist and other minor parties will appear on the ballots in some of the states.

The progressives, socialists, and prohibitionists have nominated candidates for congress in many districts, and in other labor unions or federations have endorsed democratic or republican who are believed to be favorable to their cause.

The progressives have named complete tickets for governor and other state officers in Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Indiana.

The socialist party has complete state tickets in Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Wisconsin.

The prohibitionists have named candidates for governor on other state officers in Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Wisconsin.

The socialists this year have nominated a candidate for governor of South Carolina, where for many years there has been but one state ticket, the democratic. In Wisconsin the socialist ticket appears under the name of the social democratic party, to conform with the election laws of that state. In Minnesota for a similar reason, the socialist party appears on the ballot as the Public Ownership party.

In many of the states proposed constitutional amendments will be voted upon. Oregon, Kansas, Arizona, Wisconsin and Michigan will vote on a proposed amendment to give the franchise to women. Colorado has a long list of proposed new laws to be passed upon by the voters, and Oklahoma will decide the troublesome question as to whether the state capitol shall be Guthrie or Oklahoma City.

Many of the states will elect legislators that will have the naming of United States senators. A total of thirty-three seats in the United States senate will be at stake in the election. Of these eighteen are now occupied by republicans and thirteen by democrats. Two vacancies, caused by the death of Charles J. Hughes of Colorado and the enforced retirement of William L. Dwyer of Illinois, bring the total up to thirty-three.

LAW ENFORCEMENT IN THE CITY DISCUSSED

TOPICS OF INTEREST HEARD AT MEETING OF BAPTIST MEN'S CLUB LAST EVENING.

REMEDIES SUGGESTED

Reforms Needed, in City, What Courts and Officials Can Do, And What Citizens Can Do, Taken Up By Speakers.

"In our efforts to clean up the city we must be aware that we do not demand too much, nor attempt too much at once, or we are going to fail. The committee of fifteen, which has been appointed, is not going to attempt too much, but will try to be reasonable and move along in a quiet, natural, effective way for the betterment of the city. I believe the things I have suggested are reasonable and I believe public sentiment will support the officers, to put into force what I have suggested. Let us endeavor to do the best we can." Thus spoke A. M. Matheson last evening in his address before the Baptist Men's club, on the subject, "Law Enforcement Needed in Janesville."

The general topic of the meeting was "Law Enforcement," and talks were given by other speakers on subjects related to the question.

"The question of law enforcement," said Mr. Matheson, in his opening remarks, "is one which we do not all understand thoroughly. We have a great many laws on the statute books, and some ordinances, which were put there for ornament. It is true that occasionally a party will advocate the enactment of a law, and behold there is already a statute that covers the situation. There are many laws that are passed for political effect, and the expectation of creating votes by them."

"You cannot enforce a law or ordinance that is beyond the people. If you have not public sentiment sustaining a law, it will be difficult or impossible to sustain it. We are a government of the people, and being a government of the people, we can not have laws or ordinances that are beyond the people. The city officials are confronted with that matter in enforcing the laws here. I think that in this country we have a woeful disregard for authority and a lack of respect for the law. I hope it is not going to be true in the future, or I fear for the welfare of the country. In talking about law enforcement, we must keep in mind there must be someone to enforce it. The main thing I like, about the commission form of government is that you can fix the responsibility on three men, instead of having ten men in the council who may try to shift the responsibility. But in order that these men may do as they should, they should have public sentiment behind them. I am not prepared to say that the public officials are cognizant of the fact that the ordinances have not been observed, and that they have sufficient evidence of a violation to make a strong impression on their minds. If we keep constantly at it, however, the public officials are going to give us what we want."

Mr. Matheson said that if the ordinances were not quixotic and the public demanded their enforcement, the officials would see to it that they are enforced, and he went on to explain in what way ordinances might be quixotic.

"What are some of the ordinances that should be enforced, or what should be the action of the council as to the things that have arisen at the present time?"

"First, that young people should not be allowed on the streets unless accompanied by some responsible person, or attending to some particular business. There are too many young boys and girls running about on our streets."

"All loitering on the streets should be prohibited; men who stand on the street corners, observing every woman who passes and making remarks about them should be driven off."

"All women should be excluded from the saloons at night, and I believe we should go farther and exclude them from saloons altogether."

"The stalls in saloons ought to go and go, quickly. Regarding the question of Sunday theatres, Mr. Matheson said that personally he would like to see them closed, but there is another side to the question and a chance for discussion as to whether the class of people who cannot afford an automobile, carriage, or other means of enjoying life in the country should not have some place to go for amusement."

"Slot machines and all other kinds of gambling devices, he declared, should be suppressed and the saloons upbraided and made to observe the laws. Profligate and disorderly practices should be stopped," he said.

Speaking on the subject, "What the Courts and City Officials Can Do,"

STRONG SPEECH WAS MADE AT MEETING

Address of John Peters at Mass Meeting at United Brethren Church Emphasized Some Points of Crusade.

The speech given by John V. Peters at the mass meeting under the auspices of the Otterbein Brotherhood, at the United Brethren church on Monday evening, particularly emphasized some points of the vice crusade which is being carried on in this city, and for the benefit of the readers of the Gazette who are interested in the "clean-up" of the city, are printed below:

"I have been asked to say a few words on the cause of crime in the city, and although a novice in the art of speech-making, I will venture to give you a few of my ideas in regard to crime in our city."

In my opinion there are several causes. First, hereditarily, what one receives from one's parents in the way of a physical, moral and intellectual life; poor surroundings, debasing influences, such as the parents not being congenial, quarrelling in the home, using lewd, debasing language, such as telling bad stories and talking about their neighbors, and a hundred and one other things that all tend to create a contempt for law and good living, toward low cunning and vice.

"The parents in the home are not bringing up their children right. At the present time, instead of bringing them up to make good and industrious men and women, allow the children to run at large and do almost as they please. It is a very common thing to see a girl 13 or 14 years of age roaming around the streets of our city as late as 10 or 11 o'clock at night with a young man hanging on to her. I have often wondered where her mother was, and what she was thinking of to allow her daughter to be out at that hour of night. The same applies to the young man. His father should know where he is and what he is doing. If in a pool room, a poker room, a saloon, or where he spends his evenings, it is his father's place to know."

Only a short time ago three young girls were taken out of a saloon in this city at eleven o'clock at night. Their excuse for being in the saloon was to telephone. I think it a very poor excuse.

Instead of raising children to be useful men and women and an honor to society, they are brought up so they show no respect to people older than themselves. When they appear on the streets they are dressed as if they were going to a party, with their banana-peel skirts and white shoes and the ribbons of all colors in their hair, and with hats that look like a turkey's tail on their heads, all of which tends to attract the attention of the young men, and some of the old ones too.

"Of course we all know that poverty has a whole lot to do with crime also. One other thing which is conducive to crime is the dilatory manner in which the police department performs its duties. In place of each officer walking a beat, as they do in most cities of this size, they are looking for the shady side of the buildings in the summer, and the warm corridor in the winter. If the police officers were walking a beat, and would occasionally drop into the saloons on their beats, they would have seen the minors and the women who have been patrons of the general saloons and wineroms in our city. And they had made a report to their superior officer, the mayor of our city could not have said he did not know the saloon laws were being violated."

If your Chief of Police was an industrious official and was looking out for the welfare of our city, he would know where his men were and what duties they were performing. If any I have noticed several news items in our papers where the Chief of Police had been called to quiet a disturbance. He answered the call, but he was not on the street; the men and boys could see and hear him coming fourteen blocks away, and of course when he arrived at the place where the disturbance was, the parties were gone. They had made a monkey of him. If he had known where his men were, he could have telephoned one or two of them to come from the other direction, and they could have caught a few of the disturbers, or at least found out who they were."

"One other cause for crime in our city. The Fire and Police Commission, in my opinion, is a failure. The members of the commission are appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the council, for their political pull, or other reasons. The men on the police force are examined by the Police Commission and recommended to the Mayor for appointment and are approved by the council. According to the Fire and Police commission law, the men appointed to the police force hold their jobs for their natural life, unless discharged for cause, and after a trial before the Police Commission. The police officer knows how much salary he will receive when he takes the job. It is no inducement for an officer to be industrious and try to do his best, for he knows he will not be promoted unless the officer above him is removed."

"I think the Fire and Police Commission law should be repealed or at least the section of the law relating to the employment of the officer for life. The Mayor of our city being the head officer of our city, he has the appointment of the police officers. It is up to him to see that all officers perform their duties. He also should know what is going on in our city. If the officers of the city would perform the duties for which they were elected to do, there is no reason why Janesville could not be one of the best and most prosperous cities in the state with the railroad facilities, and in the heart of the best farming lands in the state. With the right men at the helm, and the officials performing their duties, there is no reason why Janesville should not prosper."

Inspector in City: James W. Van Deuser, state inspector for the Dairy and Food Commission, was in this city yesterday conferring with District Attorney Dunwiddie concerning the issuing of a complaint for selling adulterated milk against a farmer near Beloit.

He is expected to return to Janesville on Friday of this week.

FARM NEAR FOOTVILLE SOLD BY HIRSBRUNNER

Adolph Gempler of Green County Purchases 184 Acre Farm East of Janesville.

Andrew Hirsbrunner, the cheese manufacturer, this week sold his farm of 184 acres lying between Hanover and Footville, and will move to Green county. The deal was made by John J. Wescott, of Monroe, and the purchaser was Mr. Adolph Gempler of Green county who will move on the Footville farm on March first. Mr. Wescott sold Mr. Hirsbrunner this farm when he purchased it four years ago, and has now sold it for him again. Mr. Hirsbrunner takes the deal Mr. Gempler's 80 acre farm north of Monroe, at the price of about $9,000.

Testimonial.
A grocer enjoys the unenviable notoriety of selling the worst goods in the district, but he has not recovered from the shock he got the other day when a little girl came into the shop and said: "My ma sent me for two pounds of your best tea to kill rats with, and a pound of finest ham, and mind and cut it in good thick slices, for it is to sole and heel my dad's boots."

Sport Snap Shots

by Dan McCarty

It looks as if professional golfers ambitious to win the western open next year would have to journey to sunny Tennessee for the chance. There never is any great scramble for the annual tournament, and as the Memphis Country Club has made formal application for the 1913 championship it will probably go there without opposition.

Because of Luther McCarty's recent victory over Al Kaufman, Jim Flynn is exceedingly anxious to have an argument with him. Tom McCarty wants Flynn to meet McCarty before his Vernon A. C. late in the fall. Philadelphia promoters want the go over the six-round route in the near future. Both bouts may be pulled off. It is Flynn's opinion that Kaufman is a "dead end" and is eliminated from the ranks of heavyweights.

President Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox has left for the north woods of Wisconsin with a party of about forty friends as his guests. Among his guests are James McAleer, president of the "Boston Red Sox"; Dan Johnson, president of the American League; and Jake Stahl, Boston Red Sox manager. This is the thirteenth annual party that the Sox owner has given in the north woods.

Chiefly because of his splendid work during the world series, Hugh Bennett will go down in baseball history as one of the great pitchers of 1912. Nobody imagined that Bennett could put up the game that he did against the New York Giants.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Big Ed Reulbach, the Cubs' great finger, pitched regular championship ball in the Chicago city series.

In signing Mordecai Brown to manage the Colonels, it looks as if the Louisville owners have copied the right party.

Two famous 400 hitters of former days, Hugh Duffy and James Burroughs, were pals once more during the championship games.

The Three-League moguls have announced April 24 as the opening date and Labor Day for the closing games for next season.

In purchasing 116 sacks during the season Ralph Meyers, of the Spokane Northwestern League team, has established a base-stealing record.

President James Gaffney, of the Boston Nationals, is cleaning house. He will have a new manager, a new secretary and new players for next season.

A new Central League of eight, instead of twelve clubs, will probably be formed with the following cities in the circuit: Grand Rapids, South Bend, Fort Wayne, Springfield, Dayton, Youngstown, Canton and Erie.

Just to show how the advance dope on the world's series ran, for Sweeney, Young, Forrest Cady proved to be a better backstop than the veteran Bill Carrigan, the star infielder of the Red Sox, had nothing on the Giants' back and was there with the wallop; Yerkes of the Sox, didn't blow up as was predicted; Bennett, the unknown, pitched his way into the baseball hall of fame and Heinie Wagner upset the dope by playing the best all-round game of any player in either outfit.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

End rush Vinny, of Williams, produced some real football in the Harvard-Western game.

Hill, left guard who weighs 181 pounds, is the heaviest man in the football line-up this fall.

Work on Yale's new football stadium and clubhouse is to be started within the next few weeks.

McGuire, of the Harvard eleven, is showing more activity at right guard than he did before he was hurt.

Swarthmore gained 263 yards by rushing against Pennsylvania, the Quakers' plays from scrimmage covering 153 yards only.

Clarence Weymouth, Yale's old gridiron star, is officiating in the football games being played in Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis.

Harvard has been doing little with the direct pass for rushing from scrimmage this fall. Yale and Princeton, however, have been using the direct pass frequently, but with no especially good results.

Spanking a 6-foot football player sounds like kidding, but at Cornell it is no joke. At Ithaca the coaches have a large paddle within easy reach, and when a player starts to loaf, "Whackety bang" goes the paddle on the laggard.

Our Wife Says: Eve should have been a model wife, anyway, she was dressed like a model. FOR PLATES.

This is the first season that Bennett has been regularly with Boston. He was acquired by the Red Sox a year ago last spring, but was traded to the Providence club of the International league last season.

Horace S. Fogel, president of the Philadelphia National league club, doesn't take seriously the reports that he may be ousted from that organization. "I will be president of the Philadelphia club as long as I desire to remain in that office," he declares. "This talk of being ousted is all bosh. Who is going to oust me? I am the sole owner of the club and before there is any ousting to be done I will certainly have to be considered."

However the National league apparently does intend to do something pretty serious to Fogel. He has declared very flat-footedly that crookedness and unfairness has prevailed in the National league this season, and that this crookedness and unfairness (on the part of the umpires) has worked to the great benefit of the New York Giants. The other club owners are considerably wrought up over this statement, and it is said that at least five of them will vote to oust Fogel from the league.

Dodie Gillette, quarterback is easily proving himself the star of the Wisconsin eleven this season. His most brilliant accomplishment, in last Saturday's game was a sixty-five yard run for a touchdown. The Badgers made six touchdowns and Gillette kicked every goal.

WISCONSIN COACHES ON SUFFRAGE CAUSE

"Germany" Schultz of Badger Football Staff is Strong For Votes For Women.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 23.—Coach "Germany" Schultz (Michigan), who again this year is aiding the development of the Wisconsin football team, has added his name to the college girls' campaign for equal suffrage.

"Woman's suffrage? Well, I should say I do believe in it," he declared. "I see no reason why the women should not vote. They are connected with the day and should have a voice in them. I don't think the women will become masculine if they get the vote. I should hate to think they would. I hope, if they do get the vote, they threaten to do, such as getting down on the ground and repairing their own automobiles, or trying to be policemen. On the whole I favor equal suffrage and shall vote for it."

Coach "Keg" Driver said: "I can only quote my wife in regard to woman suffrage. I do not believe in it. I think the woman's place is in the home—her duty lies there."

Head Coach Juneau said he knew little of the question and was undecided how he would vote.

Former Head Coach John R. Richards is an ardent suffragist and took the stump in his advocacy before he left for Ohio state university.

POLITICS ENTER ON THE LAST LAP OF A LONG, DREARY RACE

Election Day But Two Weeks Away—Interest in Outcome is Not Evincing as in Former Years.

With election day less than two weeks away, the last lap of the long dreary campaign is drawing to a close. Rock County has been visited by speakers of all the various political faiths, regular republicans, democrats and bull mopsters, and none of them have evoked the old time interest or drawn the crowds that speakers have in former years. It is the great silent vote, the vest pocket vote as it were, that is going to decide the coming election and it promises to be a decidedly mixed up affair taking it all in all.

The days when the political organs of the various parties carried the national state and county tickets at the head of their editorial columns is past and in its place an era of commercialism has entered into the game. The spectacular days are passed, they vanished when the torch light parades, the marching clubs, became mere memories and today it is pure commercialism that governs it all.

It used to be an easy thing to raise two or three hundred dollars for campaign purposes but ask any of the gentlemen who have been seeking funds for this purpose or that to be used to defray actual expenses and they will tell you it is like drawing teeth to get a few dollars where years ago a hundred was easily obtained.

Within the past ten days there has been a change of sentiment throughout the state at large in favor of Taft. Wisconsin is nominally a republican state and this year promises to be no break in the columns on the final count; Roosevelt and Wilson managers make great claims but the silent vote that perhaps was uncertain in July as to who they would vote for, have decided to let well enough alone and vote for the president for another term.

McGovern's statement of adherence to the Bull Moose platform and their leader, has lost him many votes in Rock county to say the least. It has also made it hard for the campaign committee to raise the usual Rock county assessment for state organization purposes. Candidates for legislative and county offices do not care to contribute to a fund that will be used to exploit the head of the ticket.

An avowed Bull Moose and not receive any benefit themselves. In fact it is understood so strong was the sentiment of candidates for county offices against McGovern coming to Janesville to speak that his appointment here has been cancelled by County Chairman Starr.

In the state senatorial contest, Mr. Cunningham of Bobbit states he is for Taft for president, and both he and Mr. Starr, republican county chairman, are authority for the statement that Candidate Richardson of the first assembly district is also for Taft. As these are legislative offices, with strong democratic opponents, this statement is interesting.

This year all the voters will mark their ballots as in days gone by. County Clerk Lee has decided that voting machines will not comply with the law, which requires separate ballots for the presidential vote. This means that the voter will cast his ballot for the presidential nominees, or rather their electors, and then take a separate sheet and vote for the state legislative and county tickets. There should be no question on the part of the voter, no matter how they feel toward the state or legislative ticket, about voting for the republican nominees for county office. They are true and tried men, well equipped for the offices they seek and should be elected by a good, handsome majority. That there may be no confusion the list of the candidates is printed below.

For Clerk of Circuit Court—JESSE EARLE.
For County Clerk—HOWARD W. LEE.
For County Treasurer—FRANK F. LIVERMORE.
For Register of Deeds—F. P. SMILEY.
For Sheriff—C. S. WHIPPLE.

EVERS WILL MANAGE CHICAGO NATIONALS

Second Baseman to Succeed Frank Chance—Will Sign Contract As Manager Tomorrow.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—John Evers, second baseman of the Chicago national league team, will be manager of the team next season, succeeding Frank Chance. This announcement was made by a friend of the player today with a positiveness that carried conviction. Evers declined to be quoted. It was authoritatively announced that Evers will sign his contract as manager tomorrow.

OBITUARY.

Milton Junction, Oct. 23.—R. J. Greenman was born in Milton in July, 1840, and died in Chicago, Oct. 19, 1912. All of his life was spent at this place except about eight of the last years, which were spent at Swell, Va. When a young man he attended Milton college. He ran the lumber office for several years. At various times he held many public offices of trust. For four years he was postmaster here. He was a man who was loved and respected by all. His death, which was very sudden, came as a shock to his many friends here.

The remains were brought here Monday evening to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Morris, where funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. They were conducted by Mr. Lewis of Chicago.

To mourn his loss besides a loving wife there are two daughters, Mrs. Frank Morris of this place, and Mrs. King of Virginia.

The Way It Happened.

A lady's hat was set on fire one day last week in the city, apparently by a match thrown from the top of an omnibus, and completely destroyed. Some idea of the vastness of the structure may be gathered from a report to the effect that the fire raged for some time in the north end of her headgear before the lady was aware that anything was amiss.—Funch.

Religion and Medicine

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

Is there any intimate relation between religion and medicine?

Yes, there is. The old-time healer was also the priest. Theology and medicine have not maintained a separate existence very long. They used to be one. Yes, there is an intimate relation between religion and medicine.

It is well known of a person who eats with unthankfulness and ill-natured spirit, that his food will not have the same effect as if he were in a kindly mood. The same is true of medicine. If a person swallows a medicine with suspicion, has no faith in its action, is more or less afraid of the one who gives him the medicine, it cannot do him as much good as if he had unwavering faith in it.

The mind has a wonderful influence over the body. Those who believe that a loving Father controls the destiny of mankind are a great deal better prepared to meet the vicissitudes of life and to overcome disease than the one who has no such faith. A truly religious man makes a better patient than an irreligious man.

In using the word religion I am not referring to any particular kind of religion. The Jew and the Gentile, the Catholic and the Protestant, each have a religion in which they believe. They also agree in the essentials.

A religious man may believe that it is necessary for him to use every means in his power to get well. He may believe that it is perfectly proper for him to employ doctors and take medicines. But he also believes that when he has done the best he can there is a higher power that has charge of his affairs, that absolute justice will be done him, that no evil thing can befall a good man. He goes forward with confidence, sick or well, rich or poor, and gets a great deal more comfort out of life than the man who has no religion.

I have found myself saying many times to people who have a chronic ailment, "You need religion as well as medicine. You need faith in an overruling providence that guides everything to wise ends; that the affliction of disease teaches a lesson that every one should strive to learn."

This does not mean that sick people are to sit down and trust that an overruling providence will do everything. Nothing of the sort. He is to use remedy guided by his best judgment, but in the use of them he can believe that all things are well and that in the end all things will come out right. Any medicine has a better chance to cure a man who holds such a faith.

Some men are so faithless and unbelieving, so restless and desperate, their minds so unsettled that even the best of medicine has little chance to do them any good. Therefore I say that religion is often quite as necessary as medicine. The want of religion frequently defeats the action of the best medicine.

Many a chronic invalid has searched in vain for a physical remedy simply because he has lost his grip on vital religion, the religion that not only provides salvation in the world to come, but soundness of body and mind in the world that is.

Yes, there is a most intimate relation between medicine and religion. Other things being equal, the irreligious man stands a poor chance of getting well, when he is sick, while the religious man frequently gets well in the most astonishing way after the doctors have all given him up to die. With a firm faith in a rational religion and an obedient use of the right remedy a great many hopeless invalids could be restored to perfect health.

Well, you have made it clear as to what you mean by religion. But what is the remedy you would recommend?

Of course I would recommend different remedies for different conditions. But the particular remedy that I am interested in at this time, the remedy that meets a more chronic ailment than any other remedy known of is Peruna. Peruna is a remedy for that multitudinous group of ailments that are dependent upon catarrhal derangements.

I am furnishing a book on catarrhal diseases which I send to any person free. In this book I explain quite fully the uses of Peruna. Those who do not care to wait to send for the book let at this time find information and instruction as to the general uses of Peruna explained within the wrapper of each bottle.

Peruna, Man-a-lin and La-cu-ra are manufactured by the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons inquire for The Old-time Peruna. They want the Peruna that their fathers and Mothers use to take. The old Peruna is now called Katarno. If your druggist or dealer does not keep it for sale write the Katarno Company, Columbus, Ohio, and they will tell you all about it.

MONTANA FARMERS TURN THEIR HOMES INTO GRANARIES AND LIVE IN TENTS

Farmers turning homes into granary and living in tents.

Poplar, Mont.—The bumper wheat crop in Montana this year caught many homesteaders unprepared to take care of the generous yields of old mother earth gave them. Along the line of the Great Northern Railway there are more than 1,000 homesteaders who have moved into tents in order to transform their houses into temporary granaries. One such home tes furniture makes way for wheat is seen in the accompanying picture. The furniture has been taken out of the home to make way for the precious grain. In this way farmers are saving their crops.

The railway is rushing cars to the homesteaders and the wheat is being hauled to market as fast as it is hauled to the railway from the homesteaders.

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR STREATOR MOTOR COMPANY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Oct. 23.—The central Trust Company today was appointed receiver for the Streator Motor Car Company of Streator, Ill., by Judge K. M. Landis. Creditors alleged that the concern is insolvent.

JUST FOR HIM. Solid Gold Knives. Solid Gold Cigar Clippers. Geo. E. Fatzinger Jeweler.

This advertisement will cause several thousand men to buy their first "John Ruskin" cigar. Those who usually smoke 10c cigars will save a nickel on every cigar they smoke in future. Those who smoke the ordinary nickel cigar will no longer like their favorite smoke.

Suppose you put this to a test yourself—risk a nickel on your first "John Ruskin." You will find it the most unusual cigar you ever smoked. It is a better and bigger cigar than any other. In quality it is the equal of any sold at 10c, because the Havana tobacco used is the equal of the best grown on the island of Cuba. It is strictly hand made by expert cigar makers. This assures free and even burning—fragrant to the last puff.

Quality and Purity

The Two Distinctive Factors of Buob's Beer or Ale.

(OUR OWN NEW BREW)

The two factors of first importance in anything you eat. Do you consider them in what you drink? They are just as important. If you drink Buob's Beer or Ale you can rest assured that you are drinking the best beer or ale made. It is made of the purest spring water, the best barley, malt and hops, and it is brewed, matured and bottled in a sanitary brewery, where each detail of the making is directed by the best experienced brewers. Upon these two important factors—quality and purity—Buob's Beer and Ale have won distinction. Order a case today.

SYMPATHY AND REASON.

The following editorial from the Wall Street Journal rings so true to conditions, that it is well worth a careful reading:

"A distinguished but pessimistic philosophical writer once said that the power of consecutive reasoning is absent in most men and nearly all women. The reasoning faculty is capable only of slow development under the most favorable conditions. The philosopher was probably right in the main, as any thoughtful student of mental processes must have observed, in remarking the small number of his acquaintances able to state their convictions by the rules of logic. Reason is a matter of training, not of instinct. And yet no country has suffered so much in the past, or is so afflicted today, with leaders who feel but do not think, than ours.

"There may be logical reasons, for instance, for voting for any given candidate for office. But those advanced are usually not reasons at all, if that word means anything. And yet the majority of our people are, for the moment at least, more deeply moved by an incident which arouses their sympathy or indignation than by an argument which should carry conviction to the rational mind. President McKinley, for instance, was a good, but not great president; and President Garfield had no great time in which to demonstrate his fitness. Impartial history does not recognize that either was better or worse for being shot. But added merit is distinctly the sympathetic inference of the popular mind, and it is even made retroactive.

"Every lover of law and order must have learned of the attack upon Mr. Roosevelt with sorrow and alarm. All will pray that he may be spared for a long career of public usefulness. But he is neither a better nor a worse candidate because he has been wounded by a maniac. Everybody rightly sympathized with Mayor Gaynor in the atrocious attack upon him two years ago. But the fact that he carries a bullet somewhere in the back of his neck makes no difference to his ethical or technical qualifications for the office he holds.

"Nevertheless, such is the force of popular unreason that history may have to record how Theodore Roosevelt twice owed the presidency to a bullet. Sympathy is stronger than reason. It is one of the most difficult and even dangerous forces government has to contend with. It is impossible to condemn it, because condemnation must in justice be based upon logical reasons, and sympathy is beyond such treatment. It is, in fact, a question of taste, as the logicians say, about which no argument is possible.

"Of course, in the end, reason, which is truth, must prevail. But many of the greatest mistakes of our public leaders and ourselves have been the result of accepting the dictates of popular emotion in face of what ought to have been our reasoned judgment."

TAXES IN ILLINOIS.

Governor Deneen, in discussing Illinois taxes, says: "An examination of the reports of the State Board of Equalization for 1899 and 1911 discloses the following facts. That the state tax rate in 1917 was 79% lower than it was in 1899; that the value of all property in Illinois assessed for taxation in 1911 was 762% greater than in 1899; that against this enormous increase in wealth, the taxes for state purpose charged against the counties in 1911 were only 83% greater than in 1899; that in 1899 one dollar out of approximately every $150 worth of property was taken as state taxes; that in 1911 one dollar out of every $337 was required, to meet the expenses of the state government.

"The state tax levy on a full property value in 1896 was 56 cents per $100 property valuation. The state tax levied on one-third valuation in 1911 was 35 cents per $100 property valuation. In other words, the state tax in 1911 was 11% cents per $100 full property valuation, which is a decrease of 44% cents, or 79% from that of 1896."

The comparison between Illinois and Wisconsin taxes is worth studying. The Badger state is the victim of the primary law and a lot of other laws which have developed as the result of one man power. We are loaded with commissions of every shade and color. Illinois has escaped from this sort of domination, and from the heavy expenses attendant. It will take us a long time to get back, but this is a good year to make the start.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

The little coterie of men outside the saloons, who opposed the commission plan of government, are still chafing under defeat and are now doing what they can to discredit the work of the commission.

The effort to make it appear that city taxes would be higher this year than last, was intended to invite criticism, but the statement of Mayor Fathers yesterday meets the issue squarely, and exposes the animus which inspired the attack.

It might be well for these gentlemen to remember that the voters of Janesville adopted the commission form of government by a substantial majority, and that public sentiment is much stronger in its favor today, than it was when the question was submitted.

Another fact should not be overlooked, and that is, that the new form of government is with us to stay for at least six years. The will of the people has been expressed, and it behooves all loyal citizens to gracefully submit, and through moral support, contribute to the success of the new undertaking.

For the first time in the history of the city, the administration is free from politics, with all its corrupting influences. The commission is free from graft or any taint of dishonesty. The office of the commission is a business office, accessible to all, and at all times, ready to listen to complaints or suggestions, and not obliged to consult ward politicians in forming judgment.

Responsibility is easily placed because, aside from the Fire and Police Commission, it rests with three men. The city, for the first time, is doing business on a business basis, and it will be found, at the close of the first year, that more intelligent work has been accomplished than during the last five years.

The city has the commission, and it is up to the people to say how much or how little shall be done for the permanent betterment of the place, we delight to call our home. Every dollar intelligently spent is for our comfort and welfare. If we continue to pursue a penny wise and pound foolish policy, but little will be accomplished, and the growth of the city will continue to remain at a standstill.

What we need to do as citizens is to forget factional differences and work together for the general good. The common desire on the part of business men and property-owners is to see the city grow, and there is every reason why it can if we pull together.

So far as the make-up of the present commission is concerned it is what we decided to have it. We made no mistake, so far as the honesty of the men is concerned, and competency will come with experience. They are entitled to our support, both from a moral and business standpoint, and should have it.

The question that men in every walk of life are asking themselves and asking each other. With the "Want" pages of the daily newspapers filled with advertisements of "help wanted"—all kinds of work for all kinds of people—with wages higher than ever before in the history of the country, the men whose chief concern is the full dinner pail are asking themselves "why a change?" With their books crowded with orders that will keep every wheel turning for months the manufacturers are asking "why a change?" With their ware rooms filled with buyers getting ready for the winter trade the wholesalers and jobbers are asking "why a change?" With their stores packed with customers with well filled purses the retailers are asking "why a change?"

Ten prominent democrats in St. Louis, recently contributed $1,000 each to the republican national committee to aid in the campaign. The business men and manufacturers, throughout the country are a unit in support of Taft. This class of men recognize the danger signals, and propose to take no chances. The industrial world is vitally interested, and if personal welfare is consulted, the vote for continual prosperity will be general. The contest is between the two old parties. A vote for the new party means half a vote for democracy. Don't take the chances.

One of the speakers at the United Brethren Brotherhood meeting last Monday night, denounced the Fire and Police Commission as a farce, and it

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT
BY ROY K. MOULTON.

An Elegy.
(With apologies to Thomas Gray).
No curfew tolls the knell of parting day,
No lowing herds wind slowly o'er the lea,
No plowman homeward plods his weary way,
The old farm's not what it used to be.

No homely-handed sons of toil are seen,
The eighty-acre lot has not been plowed,
One does not hear the harvesting machine,
And no such thing as work is now allowed.

The old farm is called a watering place,
What now are "lakes" were formerly but swales,
The farmer has a smile upon his face,
He's raking in the dough in copious bailes.

According to Uncle Abner,
If there were more fellers' workin' and fewer fellers' savin' the country, the country would be able to save itself, in time.

A feller's opinion of the oatmobile depends a good deal on whether he is plain or walkin'.
The houn dawg seems to have disappeared around the corner with a can attached to his tail.

No matter how much civilization progresses there will always be a lot of old fashioned chumps who will wear stiff bosom shirts.
And a lot of others who will cling to the derby hat.

Mr. Elias Timmins is the proud possessor of a set of false teeth which he has worn for the last two weeks upon all occasions. They do not fit exactly, however, and when no one is about he retires to a secluded place, takes the teeth out and slips them into his pocket. One day this week he absently slipped them into his hip pocket with his price to find when he reached around for a chew on a hour or so later that the teeth had chewed up all of the tobacco. Mr. Timmins now carries a small tin box in which he places the teeth when they are not in commission.

T. Egbert Peavy can't wear garters because they stop his circulation, so he sticks his socks up with library paste.

There ain't much use in tryin' to git ahead of a feller from a small town in a hoss trade or a political argument.
Hod Peters has resigned his job at the feed mill so that he kin spend all of his time attending to the national campaign.

There is hardly any feller who has not, at some time or other, had a sort of hankerin' to run for the legislature.
Any gal who kin look good with her hair in a braided down her back is, because it deprives the common council of authority, which is so necessary to good government. The humiliating thing about it is, that Janesville is responsible for the law which created the commission, and it may be difficult to secure its repeal.

ONE THING SURE MCGOVERN.
A view of yer situation from a feller up a tree,
Reminds me of the person twixt the devil and the sea.
And there's one thing sure McGovern, you'll hev yourself to thank
When the votes hev all been counted, and you saunter down the plank.

Your Republican friends were kind enough to put you up once more
Tho yer moves in the past vuz bad enough yer last one makes 'em seem There's one thing sure McGovern you'll find it never pays
To try to ride two hosses when their goin different ways.

It's goin to be a monstrous task for you and "Little Bob"
To convince the Badger voters that you'd order hold yer job.
There's one thing sure McGovern, things look bright for "Ikey" Karel
An you aided him no little bit when you leaped in that tar barrel.

It seems to me McGovern if you'd acted like a man
You'd stoutly refuse to become a Moose an remain a Republican.
For there's one thing sure McGovern an its based on solid facts,
That the people are bound to retire you and your consarned income tax.

Republicans can vote for Karel for as is a real beauty and no mistake.

There ain't much in this life or the next that worries a man who kin go fishin' while his wife does dressmakin'.

Any gal who kin hang onto the back end of a motorcycle while her feller is drivin' it fifty miles an hour is certainly going to make a loyal wife.

Caught on the Fly.
A former railroad president is now a beggar in New York. Let it be hoped that no one is so unkind as to hand him a railroad sandwich.

An Albany woman died and left three bellboys $60,000. They must have carried a pitcher of icewater upstairs for her at some time.

It doesn't seem as though anything can happen in this world without bringing on a famine in China.
Senator Gamble has found out that politics bears a strong resemblance to his own name.

If there is anything in a name, Gen. Boozie of the Mexican army should be a hard man to whip.

From the Hickeyville Clarion:
Doc Hanks has invented a medicine that will cure anything from fever and ague to appendicitis. Uncle An Wilkins, who had suffered from rheumatism, took one dose and now he hasn't got an ache or pain. They buried him day before yesterday.

Miss Amy Pringle, our popular and congenial milliner, has gone down to the city to get a message on her face by an expert messenger and chirpologist.

An old sayin' is "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." By ginger an onion a day will keep everybody away.

No matter how bad off our forestry gets, there will always be plenty of presidential timber left.
Umbrellas and reputation is public property. The public always raises the former, but very seldom the latter.

The last time Deacon Pringle was down to New York he looked all over hellshalfacre for one of them yellow newspapers we have heard so much about, but couldn't find anything, but white ones. He says the yellow ones must be some which has been stored away a long time and is valler with age.

The English papers says Alfred G. Vanderbilt is a poor coachman. By gravy, if I had sixty millions, they would have a hard time convincing me that I was so very poor.

The only feller that can talk more and say less than a campaign orator is a barber.
Elmer Jones of our midst has gone to accept a lucrative position in the West Hickeyville flour and feed mill, and the millinery store seems quite lonesome at this writing. The new trimmer says our blessings brighten as they take their flight.

As I kin see,
There isn't any one a runnin' who belongs to the G.O.P.
There's one thing sure McGovern, they can remain "regular" with their backs
Turned in the haultest derision to you an the income tax.

You can't expect the Republicans to cast their votes for you!
By makin' 'em think ye stayed in church but jest took a different pew.
There's one thing sure McGovern, when one takes a careful glance His opinion gits more firmer that you've got a durn poor chance.

CITY BUDGET READY FOR NEXT TUESDAY

Mayor James A. Fathers States That It Will Be Brought Before Council at That Time.

The budget for the city of Janesville for the year 1913 will be completed and ready for submission to the council at its regular meeting next Tuesday, according to a statement made by James A. Fathers this morning. As soon as this is adopted, the computation of the tax rate for the city as far as it applies to local needs will be begun. The amount of the levy for the state and county has not yet been announced.

Among the extraordinary appropriations asked for and which the council has under consideration for incorporation in the budget are the salary of a visiting nurse to be employed by the city, an appropriation of $6,000 for a continuation industrial and commercial school, apparatus for oiling the city streets, a combination motor-driven fire police patrol and hose wagon for the west side fire department to cost about $6,000, and an appropriation of $6,000 for re-decking the Milwaukee street bridge.

Because of the large amount of money that will be required for a part or all of these unusual and new expenses the Council will not attempt as extensive improvement of streets and highways as they had planned. The amount of money needed for bridge building or repairs will probably be less than last year. New plank will have to be laid on the Jackson street bridge, but aside from this, and the re-decking of the Milwaukee street bridge, no exceptional expenditures will be made. Appropriation for a new bridge over Spring Brook on South Main street was made last year, although construction will not begin until next spring.

It is not probable that the Council will increase the appropriation for street lighting. The present annual expenditure for street lighting, $15,000, is over $1 per capita, the highest in the state by twenty-five per cent. This is not however because of the rates paid, but because of the amount of light used. The rates are about as low as any paid by a Wisconsin city. If new lights are installed it will be through a rearrangement of the lights and not by increasing consumption, that now being the maximum under the contract. Five large size Tungsten incandescent lamps can be burned for the expense of two arc lights and it may be found advisable in some instances to substitute them for arcs and obtain a better distribution of light.

STRICTER REGARD FOR SCHOOL RULES

Must Be Shown, on Part of High School Students, Says Principal Buell in Talk This Morning.

A more thorough regard for the rules of the high school and an appreciation of the necessity of good order while in the building, were among the things emphasized to the students by Principal H. C. Buell at the opening exercises this morning.

The practice of stamping the feet be branded as an especially disturbing form of disorder which was an insult to the person which was mocked in this manner. He referred to the first year students as the ones more guilty of this form of misconduct.

Talking and whispering in the halls between classes, a habit accredited especially to freshmen, was also faulted. Students who are told to stay after school must do so unless they are later excused by the teacher by whom they are kept. Students must attend classes and shall not excuse themselves from recitations for the purpose of cramming for examinations without special permission. These were some of the other matters touched upon by Mr. Buell.

Mr. Buell said he was pleased that he had not found it necessary to refer to the students' misconduct very frequently. He urged them to remedy their faults and aid in establishing perfect order in the school.

The Janesville Dancing club wish to announce their first party to be given in East Side Odd Fellows hall Thursday, Oct. 24th. Geo. Hatch's full orchestra will furnish the music. All those holding invitations to former Lakota Club dances are cordially invited. Geo. Caldwell, Oscar Yahn and Robert Clithero comprise the committee. Tickets 75c. Advertisement.

WERE TAKEN IN BY CLEVER SWINDLERS

Three Janesville Men. Buy Device Guaranteed to Cut Down The Electric Current Consumption.

Three Janesville business men, all of high standing, were cleverly taken in yesterday, purchasing from two transient salesmen, both strange young men, a device which was guaranteed to cut down the consumption of electric current for power and lighting. One paid $32.50 for the instrument, another $10 and the third rented one for $15. The price included the installation of the instruments in the circuit, which was a very simple matter. Attached to the one used for demonstration purpose was a watt-meter. This showed to the satisfaction of the purchasers that the device was equal to its claims.

One of the businessmen who bought the current economizer was somewhat skeptical and also a little curious to see what the inside workings were like. In opening the instrument, which was a little cast iron box about five inches square he found that there was nothing inside it but a mixture of putty and water, and the two wires which passed through it. When he discovered how he had been deceived he informed the police and the others who had bought similar instruments. The young men who had sold them were still in the city and were found by the police soon after they were notified. An electrician from the Janesville Electric company's office was called to the police station and pronounced the guaranteed current economizer a fake. The salesmen confessed that they had bought them for $1.50 in Chicago.

The swindlers were allowed to go after paying back to their customers the price of the instruments, paying the services of an electrician to put the wiring into proper shape, and promising to leave the city on the next train out.

SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN MANAGER SPOKE HERE

Mrs. Crystal Eastman Benedict Held Conference in This City Last Evening—Heard by Many.

The suffrage conference with the state campaign manager, Mrs. Crystal Eastman Benedict, last night, was largely attended by local suffragists in numbers filling the living rooms of Mrs. Lovejoy's residence. Mrs. Benedict addressed the meeting saying, in part, that she brought a message of encouragement and hope for the success of the woman suffrage amendment in the coming election.

One of the best signs is the endorsement of the measure by the state Federation of Women's Clubs by a majority of two to one. The finest and most representative body of Wisconsin women thus going on record in support of woman suffrage, silences effectually the old cry that "women do not want it."

Mrs. Benedict also named over a formidable list of organizations who have endorsed woman suffrage, among them the following state associations: The Grange, the Federation of Labor, the Teachers' Association, the republican party, the conference of Methodist and Presbyterian ministers, the Baptist conference. Some of the national supporters of the movement are the progressive party, the prohibition party, the socialist party, the National Turner Bund and the Grand Army veterans.

The meeting closed with a general discussion of league business and an announcement that the next meeting of the League would be held in Liberty hall at quarter-to-four on Monday.

Suffragists from Janesville will motor to Avon on Thursday when they will hold a meeting in the school house at three-thirty in the afternoon. Friday they will hold a meeting in Edgerton at two thirty p. m.

DECISION INTERESTS ALL LOCAL WOODMEN

Decision interests in the famous case of the Iowa Judge in Famous Dispute Changes Present Plans of the Order.

Local members of the Modern Woodmen will be much interested in the decision of an Iowa judge in the now famous case of their order which has caused considerable disturbance throughout the country. The following is the dispatch from Des Moines, Oct. 22.—Proposed changes in the law governing the Modern Woodmen of America are in direct violation of the vested contract rights of the members and will not be allowed to go into effect until after the rates without the consent of the members, according to a ruling handed down today by Judge Charles S. Bradshaw of the equity division of the District Court.

The decision was given in a case wherein the insurgent wing of the organization asked the court to set aside an annual certain changes in the articles of the association's by-laws adopted by the board of directors at an adjourned session held in Chicago in January, 1912.

Court Gives Contract Rights.

The court held:

First, that under a certificate of this character the holder occupies toward the society a dual relation; he, as a member of the corporation, is bound by all reasonable by-laws enacted by the association, whether before or after the issuance of his certificate. He also occupies the position of a person holding a contract with the society and as such stands on the same footing as any other person making a contract with it.

Second, that the contract of insurance consists of the certificate of application for membership, the articles of association, by-laws of the society and the statutes of the State of Illinois relating thereto.

Rate Part of Contract.

Third, that the new law of the society proposes to change the rate and plan of insurance and both rate and plan are a part of the members' contract.

Fourth, that there is no difference in principle between reducing the amount of benefit and increasing the price charged for the benefit.

Fifth, that the proposed change in the law is a direct violation of the vested rights of the plaintiffs and other members, and is null and void so far as it attempts to change the rates or plan without the consent of the member.

Sixth, that the amendments to the article of incorporation are illegal and void because not adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members.

REVIEWS POLITICS AT SOLDIERS' HOME

Levi Alden Writes of Political Situation at Soldiers' Home in Waupaca.

It seems very good to get back among the old boys at the home again after my recent visit to Janesville, that I enjoyed myself goes without saying. Very few of the boys have received their increase in pension as yet but some of them are coming in a few days. Of course all of them are on the anxious seat and watch the vote office daily. The news of the shooting of Colonel Roosevelt at Milwaukee on Friday was received here with deep regret and all rejoiced in the thought of his speedy recovery. The Colonel has many friends here and while he is not popular as he was before his actions after the Chicago convention everyone wishes him well and are glad he was not killed. It was thought at one time that almost to a man the old soldiers would stand by McGovern, for governor, but since his late actions they have deserted him and will vote for Karel splitting their choice so as to give Taft a hearty support. Woodrow Wilson will receive but a scanty vote here.

Tonight we are having our first touch of winter here, but we all have good warm rooms to stay in and plenty of good things to eat, we do have to state Dame Fortune in the face and wonder what has become of our last summer wages. One of the sports around here just now is duck hunting and some of the boys are meeting with good success. Fishing also continues to be very good. The potatoes in this section of the country are about harvested and prices average around 30 cents for the best of them, and long strings of farmer teams are seen daily going by the home to the Waupaca market. The quality is excellent although the yield is only fair. Corn is all in the shock and the boys are earning a few dollars in husking the same, and some of them tell big stories of the number of bushels they can husk in a day, but it is generally easier to believe them that it is to hunt up the facts that it is not so. The health of the Rock county contingent here continues excellent though Charles Stevens our druggist at the hospital was under the weather for a day or two, but is gaining at his best. There are a great many vacant beds in the home just now but with the advent of the cold weather the rooms will soon fill up.

LEVI K. ALDEN.

Children Study Weather Charts.

Study of weather charts is now general in the elementary schools of Hanover and Schleswig-Holstein with the object of making their value in agriculture better known. These charts are supplied by telegraph and post to all schools in Germany, but systematic instruction on meteorology is only gradually being introduced.

Fortunes in Faces.

There's often much truth in the saying "her face is her fortune," but it's never said where pimples, skin eruptions, blotches, or other blemishes disfigure it. Impure blood is back of them all, and shows the need of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They promote health and beauty. Try them, 25c at People's Drug Co.

LAW ENFORCEMENT IN THE CITY DISCUSSED

George G. Sutherland referred to the trial of William Knipp for violation of the law with regard to selling liquor to minors, and told of the testimony of the three boys in court, corroborated by the evidence of the saloon-keeper and his bartender. "I must confess," said Mr. Sutherland, "that I did not have an idea of a great many things that have been going on in Janesville until I attended this trial. And do you know that despite the fact that this man corroborated the story of the boys, there were some people who doubted that he would be punished."

"You want to know what the courts can do in cases of violations of the law. The courts can dispose of these cases when they know of them, and can get the evidence to convict the violators. When these things occur to get action in the courts, somebody must make a complaint, somebody must get the evidence, and somebody must get testimony that will convict. I do not think there is anything the matter with the courts, and the jurors are where the people come in, and they can do their part. It is up to the prosecuting attorney and the officers and the people to see that testimony is secured which can be presented to the jury. That is one of the points where the police have been lacking."

"We do not need any more ordinances or statutes. All these minor offenses are covered in the statutes of the state, and if not provided for in the statutes, they are included in the city ordinances, sometimes in both. If cases are prosecuted under the statutes the fines go to the school fund; if under the ordinances, to the city."

"The diligence with which the laws are enforced depends a great deal on what the people want. The complaint has been made here that when parties have been arrested and tried here, they have been acquitted by the jurors. The jurors are not entirely to blame; if the evidence has not been sufficient to convict them, you cannot blame them. It is up to the officers to see that that evidence is there."

"There has been a complaint that on many minor offenses, the penalties have been too light. When the people say they want that stopped, it will be stopped, there is no question about it."

"We want to have some foundation for reform so there will not be any backward movement. It has been said we ought to have ordinances covering certain evils, but the fact is we have too many of these. Some of the state laws passed in the past few years have done more injury than they will ever do good." Examples of laws he considered harmful were enumerated by Mr. Sutherland, and he spoke with special reference to the law prohibiting children up to fourteen from entering employment of any kind, and from fourteen to sixteen without a permit.

"That is one of the most inhuman laws that have been passed," he said. "Take a boy who has never been employed until he is fourteen years old and you have the most difficult task to make an honest industrious man of him." He cited as an example the trouble occasioned in a local factory by a factory inspector, who Mr. Sutherland alleged, came to the factory and frightened a German laborer there into believing he would be deported.

Plain statements were made by A. L. Krotz in his speech on "What a Citizen Can Do." He spoke of the things of which Janesville could be proud, especially the social clubs, but said he understood the Commercial club was digging its own grave, and he would like to have the job of shoveling in the dirt. Janesville has many fine churches, he stated, but the "lid" seems to have been applied to them. The administration, he said, is faultless, but too much attention has been given to economy and the people of Janesville have been too busy money-gathering to be good citizens. "There has been a good deal of talk about taxes," the speaker declared, "but the trouble is, you have not been taxed enough, or the money has not been spent as it should have been on your streets and roads. You are called a 'stand-pat' town, and you deserve the name, but you are making Socialists right along. It is my impression that you have known about vice conditions, but why have you not thundered out against them as you have against taxes? Possibly it has not yet touched your pocketbook. The great failing is it too much indifference and too much economy."

"Public opinion is all right, but it's been asleep. You permit things here they do not permit in Chicago. They have made them stop dancing the 'bear' and the 'turkey trot' in Chicago. Chicago citizens are alive to live issues and you are not."

"You object to the claims made by the Chief of Police, Mayor and public officials that they are not supported by public sentiment. It is not their business to act on public sentiment, but on the letter of the law. Take a chance on spending a little money."

"I believe the majority do not want one half the saloons Janesville now has, but want playgrounds and an industrial school. You can have all these, if you take an active interest in politics. If possible get rid of the cafes where liquors are served. They are not fit for your wives, daughters or boys. I suggest you vote and act as if every boy and girl in the city were your son or daughter. The effect on one's pocketbook should not be considered in public matters."

The last talk on the subject of "Law Enforcement," on "How It Would Benefit Janesville," was given by E. L. Eller. The most direct benefit, he said, would be a heightened citizenship and a feeling of civic duty. Commercial interests would be benefited, as outside enterprises seeking locations are not attracted to a city where law and order are not strictly maintained, and strangers bringing business to the retail merchant are frightened away. The city's reputation at present, he stated is an unsavory one and law enforcement would tend to give the city less notoriety because of lessened crime. The severe punishment of criminals and other offenders would drive away that class, and tend to discourage the commission of crime in this city.

The program was preceded by a delicious supper served at half past six o'clock by the members of the Helpful Circle. Beautiful bouquets of dahlias adorned the tables. Roger Cunningham was elected leader of the next meeting.

GRANT HYDE AUTHOR, BOOK ON REPORTING

Former Janesville Young Man Writes 'Reporters' Guide Which Has Just Been Published.

Grant M. Hyde, a former Janesville young man, now instructor in journalism at the University of Wisconsin, is the author of a book on "News-Reporting and Correspondence," published by Appleton and Company and contained in their October list.

The book is concerned more especially with the reporter's work, how it is done and how he goes about it, rather than an exposition of the why and wherefore of the newspaper business.

Chapters I to XVII are devoted to a terse, pointed discussion of news gathering, new values, newspaper terms, the news story, form, the simple fire story, the feature fire story, faults in news stories; other news stories, follow-up and rewrite stories, reports of speeches, interviews, court reporting, social news and obituaries, sporting news, human interest stories, dramatic reporting, and style book. Hundreds of specimen news stories, showing "How to do it," and "How not to do it," are interspersed in the text and form a valuable guide and reference. An appendix includes suggestions for study, news stories to be corrected and an index.

Mr. Hyde is the son of Mrs. George Hyde, for a number of years instructor in music and drawing in the Janesville schools. He was graduated from the local high school in 1906 and received his college degree from Yale University in 1910.

WEIGHT OF ENGINE OVERTURNED RAIL

St. Paul Switch Engine Derailed on Spur Track to Southern Wisconsin Sand & Gravel Co., Today.

Overturning the outer rail on the curve of the spur track of the St. Paul railroad leading to the plant of the Southern Wisconsin Sand & Gravel company, engine 4534, used for switching purposes in this city, left the rails and dove into the sand of the bank at the side of the tracks. The trucks were torn up for a distance of about ninety feet. The accident occurred about half past eleven o'clock this morning while the engine crew was switching out some loaded cars, preparatory to switching a string of empties onto the spur. The derailment occurred on the curve just a short distance from where the tracks cross the highway, and caused the engine to lean heavily to one side. The weight and strain of the locomotive on the outer rail of the curve tore the rail loose from the ties, and the engine was almost pulled away from its tender. Engineer John Eater and fireman were on the engine, but were not injured, as they jumped when the accident occurred. The wrecking crew of Milwaukee, has been sent for and is expected to arrive this afternoon or this evening to clear up the wreck and put the engine back on the rails. The accident caused the sand and gravel company considerable inconvenience as the plant is rushed with orders, and some delay will be occasioned in securing cars until the damage is repaired.

Where You Can See Meridian Line.

The meridian of the earth, the scientist will tell you, is an imaginary line running from north to south. It is not generally known, however, that near Greenwich-observatory the meridian line can be actually seen and walked upon. It is deeply graven in stone, and is laid in the footpath that leads round the observatory.—Wide World Magazine.

Cure for Crying Children.

An ingenious employment of the phonograph by the way, was suggested by an inventor some time ago. This was for curing children of the habit of crying upon the slightest provocation. The child is made to cry into the instrument, and when he is calm the record is served up before the whole family. It is said to be a perfect cure.

"THE COMMON LAW."

That astute manager, Mr. A. H. Woods whose theatrical successes are legion, has surely picked another winner in Robert W. Chambers' "The Common Law," a dramatization of which was presented last season by Mr. Woods in such a manner as to leave no doubt regarding its future as an entertainment well calculated to rivet the attention of the class of theatregoers who give serious thought to something substantial, as against the multifarious offerings in the lighter vein of stage presentations. "The Common Law" is scheduled Schultz and his wife, Maggie. Maggie follows the suggestion given her by all the people with whom she comes in contact and steals in order that her baby may be born in the free air of the great west. She almost falls into the clutches of the law but the fact that she finally realizes her great hope gives a particularly pleasant ending to the story. Sarah Padden's emotional power has ample range in the role of Maggie and she has scored a genuine triumph in the part. She will be supported by William Macaulay, Alice Ringling and an excellent cast.

DOROTHY STANTON, HENRY KING, KATHRYN STEVENS IN "THE COMMON LAW," AT MYERS THEATRE, FRIDAY, OCT. 25.

for a hearing here at the Myers Theatre, Friday evening October 25, and already there seems to be a widespread interest in witnessing the characters of Mr. Chambers' book in the flesh and blood.

As is usually the case, Mr. Woods has spared no pains nor expense in making the production complete in every detail and has gathered together a company of players who may be absolutely relied on to give an intelligent interpretation of the work as set forth by the author of the famous novel from which the play has been taken.

"KINDLING."

Theatre patrons find "Kindling" so very elemental and so very human

The attraction will play at the Myers Theatre, Saturday, Nov. 2, matinee and night.

"A GIRL FROM THE UNDERWORLD."

In all homes, in all branches of life, there is an uncertain feeling of uneasiness, a desire to go away to see the world; to go on your own accord, there is not much play for a girl alone, homeless, hungry and without money. There is only one road open for her, and "A Girl of the Underworld" will show you the folly of that road. A road perhaps which is smooth going, but when the end is reached, and you want to return, you will find the road rough and hard to travel. Every mother, father, brother and sister, owes it to themselves to see this beautiful play for the lesson it teaches. Girls who want to go to the city, girls who want to leave home, girls who don't know their own mind, "A Girl of the Underworld" that plays at Myers Theatre Sunday Oct. 27, matinee and evening. It will show the pitfalls of the big city of New York. The greatest moral lesson ever taught is the verdict of this beautiful four act comedy drama, "A Girl of the Underworld."

Miss Mary Nash, who plays the part of Wanda Kelly in "The Woman," is scoring a great success in that production this season because of her extraordinary realistic acting of a most difficult role—that of a telephone operator who throughout the first act never removes the receiver from her ear. This feat may appear simple to the man or woman in the audience, but those who have had stage experience know that it is very difficult to listen intelligently, long and attentively, particularly when the actor has little or nothing else to do. However, Miss Nash does it perfectly, thus proving that it isn't impossible for a woman to be a good listener, after all.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

AN OVERWHELMING SUFFRAGE DEFEAT.

To the Editor:

The rejection of the proposed suffrage amendment to the Ohio Constitution on the 3d of September is a heavy blow to the suffragists. They had made a vigorous campaign, extending over several months and reaching the remotest corners of the state. Up to the very day of the election they were confident and boastful. Yet, while the voters accepted all but eight of the forty-two proposed amendments submitted to them, they buried the suffrage proposal under an adverse majority of 87,455.

What is the explanation? The suffragists are prompt to charge their defeat to the liquor interests. That explanation has become somewhat threadbare. It is sufficiently related, in this instance, by the fact that it was not only the cities, but the rural districts, where the liquor interests are a negligible factor, that voted against the amendment. Only 19 out of 88 counties voted for it. The real reason must be sought elsewhere. The truth seems to be that, in Ohio, as elsewhere, the typical political woman does not appeal to the average man any more than to the women whom he represents. The spectacle which she presents, haranguing passing crowds from a soapbox at the street corner, or making breathless speeches from an automobile on a "whirlwind campaign" may divert and amuse him, but he does not care to have it indefinitely multiplied by the grant of the ballot. Even in Ohio where he voted for nearly all the radical proposals submitted to him, he drew the line at this.

It seems probable also that the peculiar character of the suffrage campaign in Ohio alienated more voters than it won. The average man likes fair play. There is rowdiness sometimes in men's political gatherings; but the average man, if he is a Democrat, does not try to break up Republican rallies, nor if he is a Republican does he try to hoot down Democratic speakers. It is quite plain, that the Margaret-Foley style of campaign, the deliberate and systematic interruption of anti-suffrage meetings, and the persistent hocking of anti-suffrage speakers did not work in Ohio.

There is ground to hope that the Ohio campaign and its result mark the turning of the tide in the frenzied suffrage agitation. The effect of this overwhelming suffrage defeat will be felt in all the states which are to vote upon similar proposals in November. It will dampen the ardor of the suffragists; and it will greatly encourage the women who, organized hastily in an emergency, are working to avert the evils which woman suffrage would bring upon themselves and upon society.

The Ohio suffragists are prompt to declare that, through the initiative referendum, they will bring this issue again before the voters next year. Possibly, if they follow the plan of the Illinois suffragists, of paying a dollar a hundred for signatures, they may get enough names to their petition. But what chance is there that a hostile majority of 87,000 can be reversed in a year, or in five years? It is more likely that the Ohio voters, like those of Oregon, irritated by the repeated raising of an issue once definitely settled, will increase the majority against it.

Here's a Stove That Saves 3 Tons of Coal Every Winter

When you can heat your home luxuriously warm all winter with 3 tons of coal why will you burn 6?

A Favorite Base Burner will heat every room in your house comfortably, and do it with half the fuel an ordinary base burner requires.

The common-sense construction of the Favorite is the reason why it is the best and most economical stove in existence. Most heating stoves let too much heat escape up the chimney. The Favorite doesn't let a bit escape—it throws it all into the room.

The illustration shows that no heat goes to waste with a Favorite. See how the heat travels in two streams down the back of the stove, at each corner then forward across the bottom of the stove, underneath the ash pit. Then back across the bottom, and up the central flue to the stove pipe.

All this great surface passed over radiates the heat into the room, and its area is more than doubled, because the back flues are set apart, and out from the stove, and the bottom flues are separated from the ash pit.

So, heat radiates from all sides of the back and bottom flues, as well as from the back and bottom of the stove.

That's why everyone that buys a Favorite saves one-half on their fuel bills. Come and see us, and our Favorite will be your Favorite, too.

Why He Took Pills

HE TOOK a seat in the dining car, ran his eye hastily over the menu, quickly wrote on the card what he wanted, drank a glass of ice-water, the waiter brought, and then tapped impatiently on the table with his finger-tips, until his orange appeared.

In seemingly about two mouthfuls, the orange was gone, and he leaned back in his chair and watched for the waiter to bring his cereal, his expression growing more and more annoyed as the seconds slipped by.

Finally the cereal appeared, a huge bowl of it.

"Don't be so long bringing my breakfast," he said to the waiter.

"No sir," said the waiter, and started on a trot down the car aisle.

The man poured some cream over his cereal, dived into it, and emerged, in the course of a few minutes, breathless, but with the cereal disposed of.

Then he drew from his pocket, a small bottle and took some pills.

The program completed so far, he once more leaned back in his chair, and watched impatiently for the waiter.

In a few minutes the waiter came scurrying down the aisle with a huge tray, laden with an enormous platter containing two large pieces of ham and three eggs, a plate piled high with several kinds of hot rolls and bread, a dish of potatoes and a pot of coffee.

The man fell upon them, and before one could remove a horrified yet fascinated gaze, every dish was cleared. Only once did he pause, and that was to take another bottle of pills from another pocket and dissolve six in his coffee.

The breakfast dash done, he impatiently waved aside the finger-bowl, paid his bill, and went back into the Pullman to spend the rest of the morning looking out the window and wondering why the train didn't go faster.

Meanwhile, his poor digestion, spurred by pills, was trying to overtake the food that had passed it on the high gear. But it never did, and it never will. Not all the pills made in Detroit—and the sight-seeing car conductor said more pills were made in Detroit than in all the other cities of the Union put together—can enable that man's digestion to keep up with that rate of eating. What he needs is not pills, but a new internal arrangement, whereby all the processes of digestion can be done at one and the same time, after the food is swallowed.

And since necessity and environment bring about changes, perhaps this is the sort of digestive apparatus that will in time be evolved.

Meanwhile, however, he, and others like him, will continue to keep the pill industry of Detroit flourishing, and to wonder vaguely, when they take time for it, why they suffer so from indigestion.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS
Henrietta D. Grauel

THE wise housekeeper, who rates her time at its proper value, has a number of dishes in her repertory that are easily prepared at short notice and finds them useful on busiest days.

The less experienced woman, who has not catalogued or timed her cooking, often finds herself spending time that she can ill afford over her range.

The following recipes I call fifteen-minute dishes, though in cases where gas is not used and the cook must wait upon the vagaries of wood or coal fire, longer time may be needed.

Each recipe is a type and numerous other dishes of similar quality may be prepared over the rule given here.

Branded chops, croquettes and meat balls.

If you have followed the suggestion to keep rolled seasoned crumbs at hand you will need only to dip the article to be fried in beaten egg, then in the crumbs and fry a rich brown in hot lard.

Talks of three eggs one-half cup of milk, two tablespoons of butter melted, unless meat is fat. Mix all together and bake fifteen minutes.

Potatoes may be cooked in ten minutes.

Peel them and cut into slices a quarter of an inch thick, dip into snowdrift or melted butter and place on a wire broiler over a bed of coals or in a hot oven. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and eat while hot.

Tomato Hash—Butter a baking dish and fill with alternate layers of sliced tomatoes and chopped meat well-seasoned. Pour two beaten eggs over the top and bake ten minutes.

Meat for fish on toast.

Smoked beef or other meat in fine bits and heat in a frying pan with a lump of butter, sprinkle flour over the mixture and when it begins to brown slightly add milk. Stir until sufficiently thick. Serve on buttered toast or hot biscuits.

Chicken, veal or other croquettes are mixed with half as much rice, or potato, or bread crumbs, as you have meat, they may be seasoned with cheese, cinnamon, a little onion and parsley or whatever you fancy. They may be formed into balls with the yolk of eggs or mixed into a corn starch foundation, cooled and then shaped, breaded, egged and fried.

Potted meats are all made with the same proportions. Ham is generally added for taste and flavor. Cut the cooked remnants of cold meat with the finest knife in the chopping machine and then pound to a paste, season with pepper and pack into small jars. Cover the jars with melted butter.

Veal, or beef loaf, called canneloni—To every cup of cold meat chopped fine add one cup of bread crumbs and season to taste.

In this series of quick cooking will be found several recipes for hot breads and desserts and a model for a quickly made layer cake.

Following the fifteen-minute dishes recipes for twenty-minute dishes will be published.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson

Dear Mrs. Thompson—How can I clean a soft white feather? CLARA. Put the feather in a box. Scatter over the feather a lot of powdered magnesia to which has been added a little gasoline. Put lid on box and shake well, so that magnesia gets into all parts of feather. Let it stay 24 hours, then take it out, and shake well.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—Please give me recipe for sour milk biscuit and for lemon filling, and oblige.

PHYLLIS. Quick soda biscuit—Sift 1 cup soda and 2 cups cream-tartar into 1 qt. flour then rub into flour 2 tbsp. butter (or part lard). Add 1 tsp. salt and sugar. About 1 1/2 pt. sour milk will be needed. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's

Dandarine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Dandarine.

LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL, GLOSSY HAIR, NO DANDRUFF—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Hair Coming Out?—If Dry, Brittle, Thin or Your Scalp Itches and is Full of Dandruff—Use of Dandarine—Grows New Hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Dandarine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Dandarine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Dandarine, and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of fine hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandarine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Dandarine.

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

"W" WHY IS A BORE? We were gathered in conclave assembled before the first open fire of the season; we had been talking of many things, of shoes and stumps and sealing wax, of cabbage and kings; we had settled the affairs of the universe and then drifted into friendly silence as one does before an open fire, when Molly, the little stenographer, lady, propounded the above question.

"Why is a bore, Molly?" echoed the author's wife. "What a silly question! What do you mean? Or is it a joke?"

The author's wife is very literal minded and so frequently misses our subtle jokes that she has acquired the habit of defending herself from mistake by that question.

"No, of course it's not a joke," said Molly. "It's just this. There's a man in our office who bores everybody to extinction. We all do anything we can to avoid talking with him, and yet he ought to be interesting for he has had a splendid education and has traveled around the world. Now what I want to know is, what makes him a bore and other people interesting when they haven't been anywhere or had half his education? In other words, why is a bore? I wish you'd think of all the bores you know and tell me."

The author's wife still looked as if she thought it was a very silly question but the wants-to-be cynic took up the gauntlet.

"A bore," he stated, "is someone who knows so much that you do that he makes you feel stupid."

"Horrid thing!" said Molly. "It wasn't that at all. For I just love to talk with Mr. Graham and he knows twice as much as this man. Besides some people, with an icy emphasis on the some, who don't really know much of anything bore me, so that could hardly be the reason."

"Why, Molly," interrupted the lady who always knows somehow pacifically, "I think a bore is just a person who doesn't have any of the same interests that you do. That makes him a bore to you, he may not be to everybody."

"No," said the author, "I don't think that's so, lady. There are some people who are just born bores—to everybody. It seems to me that a bore is a person who never thinks, really thinks out thoughts of his own. I mean, he just takes the ideas and thoughts he finds current and uses them over and over again. He's the kind of person that's always quoting 'poor boys' and 'always saying things like, 'It never rains when you take your umbrella.'"

"That's not bad," said the man who thinks, "but how about this—a bore is just a person without a sense of humor."

"A bore is a person too selfish to know he is boring you," I contributed. "I have it, Molly!" said the wants-to-be cynic who had been in disgrace since his first attempt, and then as we waited for something worth while at last he announced triumphantly—

"A bore is a person who bores you."

"Why is a bore?"—really it is an interesting question. Discuss it some time. For are there not many, perfectly good, well educated people who bore you intensely, and others with far less claims to distinction who amuse and interest you?

Now why is it? Why is a bore?

Uncle Pennywise said: "Come for a spanking. But here's where Uncle stepped in."

"Hold," said I, righting the rocker again. "We're not going to scold Johnnie any more. We aren't even going to spank him. Johnnie is going to tip this rocker over just once more."

"Whereupon Johnnie did. Then he stood up and grinned at me."

"Whereupon," Uncle simply "took hold of the rocker, opened the front door and threw the rocker outdoors."

"I wish you could have seen that youngster's face!" He didn't say a word and he was slightly silent until bedtime came around. Then he came up to me.

"Uncle," said he, "I love you."

"Do you want your chair back, Johnnie?" I asked.

"Oh yes, Uncle. I'll be a good boy."

"Well," said I, "I think you will. I think you won't ever trouble papa and mamma and uncle again by tipping over the rocker. So I'm going to let you have it."

"I did," I brought it in before he went to bed. He sat in it very gravely for a moment, and not once since has he yielded to the temptation to tip it over."

"Tell you what—it's object lessons, not words that impress the youthful mind. I believe in example, not preaching or scolding."

Already Once.

The architects of the country are slowly awakening to the important position of the plumber and steamfitter in the general scheme of building. They're not, however, much education.—Domestic Engineering.

DINNER STORIES

The host was nervous and inexperienced and he rose hurriedly at the conclusion of the song. "Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "before Mr. M. started to sing, he asked me to apologize for his voice, but I omitted to do so—er—so—I—er—apologize now."

Mrs. Stronghead had just thrown a paving stone through a drug store window, merely to prove that she was entitled to vote, and had been marched off to jail. "Thank heaven," said Stronghead. "That settles the problem of 'where shall we spend the summer,' anyhow."

Many years ago, when Senator Ingalls was in the senate, oleomargarine was a bone of contention. The debate led Ingalls to utter one of those epigrammatic sentences which made him famous. "I have never, to my knowledge, tasted oleomargarine," said Ingalls. "but I have stood in the presence of genuine butter with awe for its strength and reverence for its antiquity."

Senator Cullom of Illinois was asked by a correspondent why the committee on foreign relations had joined secrecy on the text of the new treaty with Great Britain, when the text of the treaty was printed in all the morning papers. "Just so, just so," said the senator; "that's the reason for the secrecy. We knew that if we made it public at once, no paper in the country would print its full text."

It once was said that "art is an imitation of Nature," but truly it can now be said that the art of beautifying one's self may result even in a vast improvement upon Nature.

There are thousands of women whose chief desire is to have a beautiful complexion. Whatever the condition of the skin, whether sallow, muddy, spotty or reddened, rough, pory or coarse, it may be brought to the most remarkable refinement. In the cases first mentioned, a lotion that I use will do these things so thoroughly that you will marvel at the change. Every woman should make up and use this formula, and use it habitually, whether you think you have a good enough complexion or not. You will see the difference.

Boil half a pint of water. Add two tablespoons of glycerine. Keep stirring while adding one ounce of zincite, until it is all dissolved. Then let cool. If the cream is too thick to pour easily from the bottle, thin it down with a little more hot water. The cream will be white and satiny. After bathing in the morning, hold a wet towel to the face several times for several minutes. Rub this cream on the entire face liberally. Let the cream dry on the face. Repeat this again at night. A good draught will be a tonic and a source of zincite for about fifty cents.

HENRIETTA. S. C. Many women waste their time and money, and some do themselves great injury by using appliances, cream and ointments, the results of which are often very bad. You have my assurance that this formula will positively do the work in a natural and healthy way. Dissolve two ounces of zincite and half a cup of sugar in one quart of water. Use this twice a day in a wineglass of water after four meals. I have found this recipe a peculiar one, giving astonishing results. It will cost you at the drug store.

EXASPERATED. I've done everything to try to get rid of blackheads, and have failed. Washing, pinching, digging are all to no purpose. The formula given below will surprise you in its results. You will get rid of every blackhead and acne. First wash the face with hot water and soap. Then sprinkle some nioxin generously upon a sponge made wet with hot water, and rub it over the face for a few minutes on the parts of the skin which are affected with blackheads. This done, rub the face with warm water, and dry. You should be able to secure this nioxin at any drugstore for fifty cents.

THERESA. If you will dissolve twelve ounces of granulated sugar in one-half ounce of sarsaparilla and mix the whole together thoroughly, adding more water to make a pint you will have one of the most splendid and effective plums remedies for blackheads. Use it twice a day, after meals. It makes a good remedy for the face, and is very effective. Take one or two teaspoons of this mixture three or four times a day with a little water if desired.

FRANCES H. I use auto solution. It dissolves and removes hair wonderfully, leaves the skin clean and smooth. After removing the hair, it works on the skin, and the hair falls out. It can be used on the tenderest skin.

Keep the hair moist with this lotion until it has actually dissolved. This will take but two or three minutes. Then wash off with warm, damp cloth and wash the skin with warm water. The auto solution will cost you a dollar and can be obtained at almost any drug store.

The Gadder Is On the Job

Travelers Don't Fear Strange Dishes
Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Enable the Stomach to Stand Anything.

A Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is Your Best Traveling Companion. "Railroads tell you about the wonders of Nature along their lines; hotels describe their modern accommodations; but they never fail to ring in their 'cuisine unexcelled.' The wise traveler knows he is taking 'pot' luck when he leaves home, hence a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is quite as essential as many of the other traveling requisites."

Thus commented a philosophical traveling man, speaking of hotel life, restaurants, grills and junction lunch counters. "The agitators in this world," he continued, "are the result of one set of men trying to compel the other set to think and act against their own inclinations. It is the same in religion, politics, and eats. I have learned from experience to eat what they serve; to forget the food experts, read the current news and jokes and leave the stomach to the best expert in the world—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts assist the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists, at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of it. That's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of everyone.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES!

THE BOOK AGENT.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE book agent is a human of sense with a vocabulary which is a cross between a graphophone record and a class day oration. He earns a precarious living by persuading people that they ought to have something in the library besides a bust of Shakespeare and the family photograph album.

The book agent wanders from place to place, and meets a great many people who remember him without any particular enthusiasm whenever the monthly installment falls due. He changes boarding houses rapidly and thus cultivates a very volatile appetite, which cannot be curbed by anything which is put on the table.

The first act of a successful book agent is to get into the house without the aid of a jimmy. This is usually accomplished by referring the lady of the house to some neighbor who is a social rival and who has just contracted to pay $2 down and the balance in thirty-monthly reminders, with several alluring pictures of French nobility thrown in.

The book agent times his visits with so much accuracy that he is always catching the mistress of the house in curl papers and a discouraged form. When a book agent is aged kimonos.

In good form, he can hold a woman under his magic spell until an ovenful of salt-ripened bread has been burned to a crisp.

The modern book agent deals mostly in bindings, and French classics. They are getting out some very spicy bindings, but the classics are usually several laps ahead. The classics are always illustrated so as to conform to the pure food law, and can be read in any home by people whose eye teeth have been operated upon.

The book agent shows up to best advantage when he takes rounds with a business man who takes "Lalla Rookh" for a new brand of coffee and who is looking for an illustrated edition of Byron's poems, with their original, unexpurgated fervor. This is one reason why so many book agents go insane.

Have an Object and Work For It. Define an object as early as you can, and go after it. Shape up every act of your life to it and its attainment. If you find it is not what you really desire, discard it after giving the matter sufficient thought—but not until you are convinced that some other goal is more necessary to you, when you must seek it with equal zeal.

Need More Iron in the Blood. If you are anemic, you need more iron in your blood, and the tell-tale symptoms are a pale face, colorless lips, ashen finger nails, poor circulation, and short breath, and more serious diseases are easily contracted when in this condition.

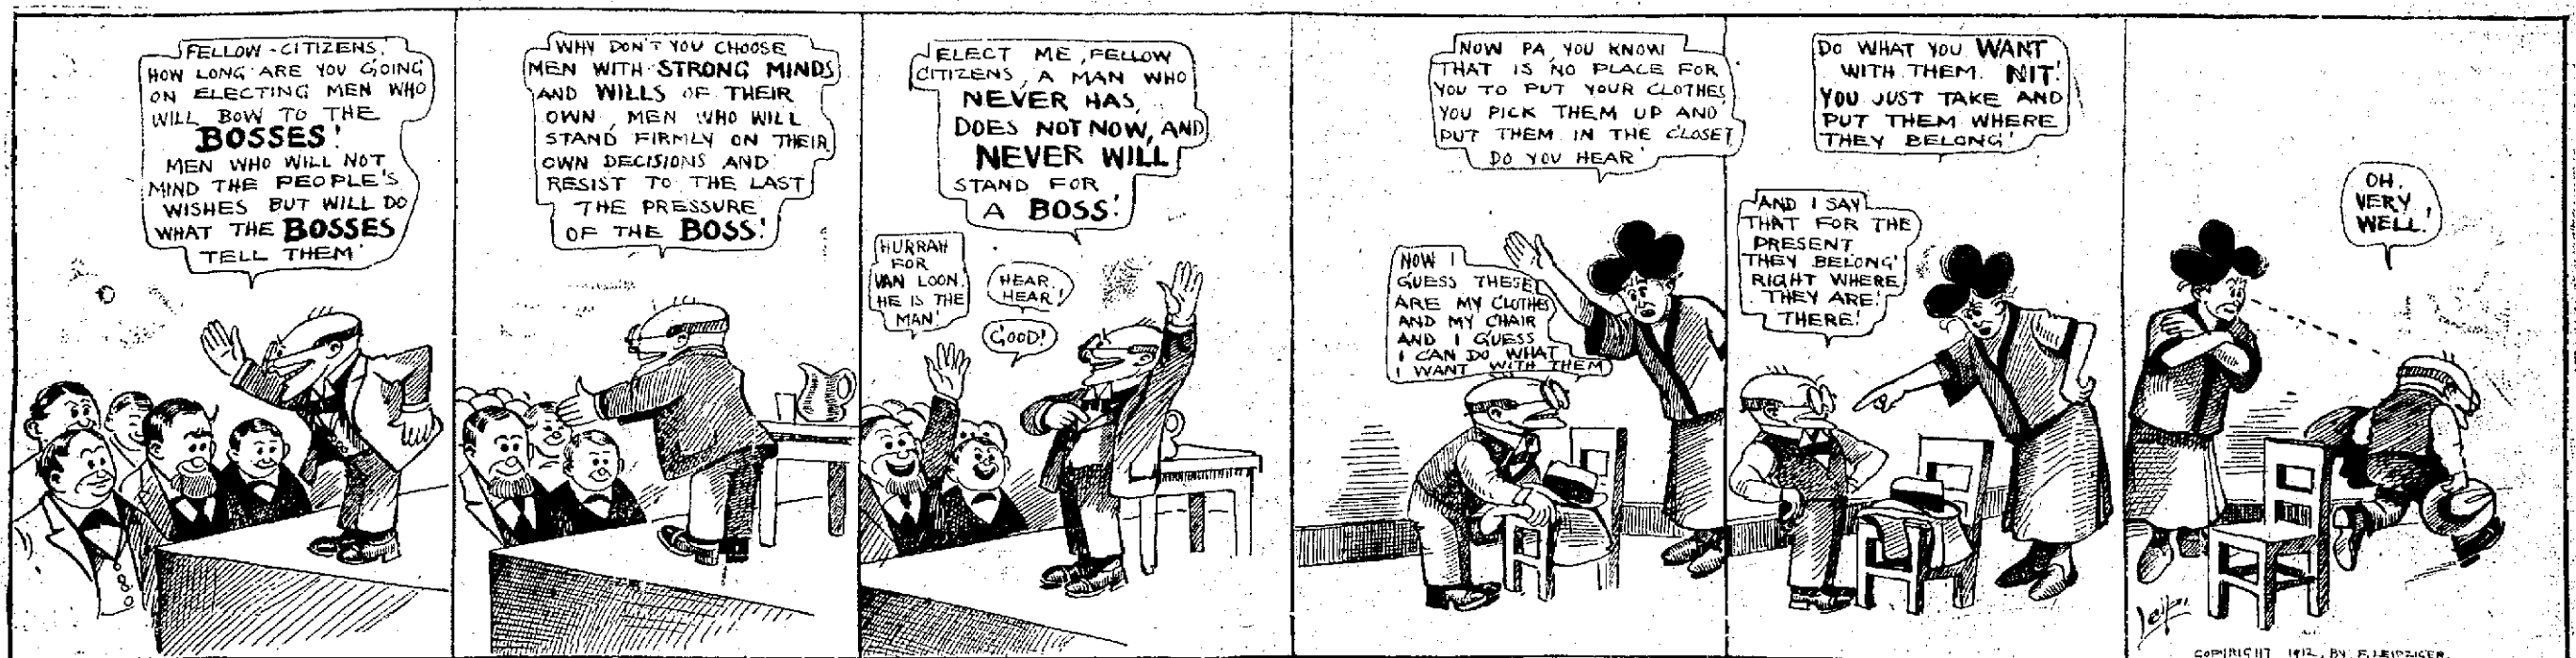

What Vinol did for Mrs. G. S. Manuel of San Antonio, Texas, it will do for every anemic run-down person. She says: "I was weak and nervous about three years. My health was badly run down and my complexion became sallow and badly affected with pimples. While in this weakened condition, I contracted pleurisy, which made it very hard for me. I am happy to say that Vinol has restored me to health again and I have no cough or soreness of the lungs at all."

We ask every anemic or run-down weak person in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim. Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis.

YOUR SOUR, GASSY, UPSET STOMACH WILL FEEL FINE IN FIVE MINUTES.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that's just what makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste; remember the moment Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—

CHAPTER VII.

A Distant Menace.

"There are, my lord, His principal harbor and resort is a little isle farther north—English, they call it—that offers refuge at any time to miscreants from France. There may they lie peacefully, as in a cradle; or go ashore with impunity, and the like. Oh, he is safe enough there. Home for French exiles, they designate the place. Exiles! Bah! It was there he first found means to get his ship—sharing his profits, no doubt, with the islanders who built her. There, too, he mustered his crew—savage peasants who had been turned off the lands of the old Seigneur; fisher-folk who had become outlaws rather than pay to the governor just dues from the sea; men fled from the banquette of the mill, of the oven, of the wine-press—"

"Still must he be a redoubtable fellow, to have done what he did to-night; to have dared mingle with the people under the governor's very guns?"

"The People! He has nothing to fear from them. An ignorant, low, disloyal lot! They look upon this fellow as a hero. He has played his cards well, sends money to the lazy, worthless ones, under pretext that they are poor, over-taxed, overburdened. In his company is one Gabriel Gabarie, a poet of the people, as he is styled, who keeps in touch with those stirring trouble in Paris. Perhaps they hope for an insurrection there, and then—"

"An insurrection?" The marquis' delicate features expressed ironical protest; he dismissed the possibility with an airy wave of the hand. "One should never anticipate trouble, Monsieur le Commandant," he said lightly and rose. "Good night."

"Good night, Monsieur le Marquis," returned the officer with due deference, and accompanied his noble visitor to the door.

At first, without the barracks, the marquis walked easily on, but soon the steepness of the narrow road, becoming more marked as it approached the commanding structures at the top of the Mount, caused his gait gradually to slacken; then he paused altogether, at an upper platform.

From where he stood, by day could be seen, almost directly beneath, the tiny habitations of men clinging like lumps to the precipitous sides of the rocks at the base; now was visible only a void, an abyss, out of which swam the sea; so far below, a boat looked no larger than a gull on its silver surface; so immense, the dancing waves seemed receding to a limit beyond the reach of the heavens.

"You found him?" A girl's clear voice broke suddenly upon him. He wheeled.

"Elise! You!"

"Yes! why not? You found him? The commandant?"

"At your command, but—"

"And learned all?"

"All he could tell."

"It is reported at the castle that the man escaped!" quickly.

"It is true. But, in a voice of languid surprise, 'I believe you are glad—'"

"No, no!" She shook her head.

"Only," a smile curved her lips, "Beppo will be so disappointed! Now, seating herself lightly on the low wall of the giant rampart, 'tell me all you have learned about this Black Seigneur.'"

The marquis considered; with certain reservations obeyed. At the conclusion of his narrative, she spoke no word and he turned to her inquiringly. Her brows were knit; her eyes down-bent. A moment he regarded her in silence; then she looked up at him suddenly.

"I wonder," she said, her face bathed in the moonlight, "if it was this Black Seigneur I danced with?"

"The Black Seigneur?" My lord started, frowned. "Nonsense! What an absurd fancy! He would not have dared!"

"True," said the girl quickly. "You are right, my lord. It is absurd. He would not have dared."

When you have anything to sell let the people know it through the want ads.

and her curiosity became cured. She had passed beneath a machicolated gateway, and climbing a stairway that began in a watch-tower, found herself unexpectedly on a great platform. Here several men, unkempt, pale, like creatures from another world, were walking to and fro; but at sight of her, an order was issued and they vanished through a trap—all save one, a misshapen dwarf who remained to shut the iron door, adjust the fastening and turn a ponderous key. For a moment she stood staring.

"Why did you do that?" she asked angrily.

"The governor's orders," said the man, bowing hideously. "They are to see no one."

The moment passed; still she lingered. Around the Mount's high top, her own home, only transcendent silence reigned; here she was surrounded by babbling voices and all manner of merry creatures—lively little squirrels; winged insects, romping in the twilight shade; a portly and well-satisfied appearing green monster who regarded her amiably from a niche of green. A butterfly, poised and waving its wings, held her a long time—until she was suddenly aroused by the wood growing darker. Raising her eyes, she saw through the green foliage overhead that the bright sky had become sunless. At the same time a rumbling detonation, faint, far-off, broke in upon the whisperings and tinklings of that wood nook. Getting up, she stood for a moment listening; then walked away.

OLIVE Tablets

OIL the Bowels

A Physician's Substitute for Dangerous Calomel.

When you feel that your liver and bowels need help take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Substitute for Calomel. Calomel is effective, but dangerous—causing bad after-effects.

Olive Tablets are especially made to take the place of Calomel. Dr. Edwards for years has been Calomel's foe. He saw its dangers and its disadvantages in 17 years' practice, treating patients for all kinds of liver and bowel complaints. In his efforts to do without Calomel he developed his now famous little olive-oil-colored tablets. Olive Tablets are mild but effective. Safe and sure. Pleasant to take but unfailing in results.

Olive Tablets oil the bowels just enough to start Nature's own action, and they tone up the liver at the same time. They are made from a rare combination of vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

If you want to regain that feeling of joyous buoyancy and clear thought take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They work like a vacation. 10 and 25 cents per box.

"Every Little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

Janesville Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Janesville given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases. Read this:

Mrs. Emeline Hall, 542 S. Franklin St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I suffered terribly from pains through the small of my back and limbs and I also had trouble from the kidney secretions. Someone finally advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did so, procuring them at the People's Drug Co. The contents of two or three boxes corrected my trouble. You may continue to publish my former statement regarding Doan's Kidney Pills. Since I used them two years ago, I have had no further need of a kidney medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Rain-Trap. In a time of distressing drought, says a writer in the Yorkshire Daily Post, a harassed amateur agriculturist stepped into a shop to buy a barometer. The shopman was giving a few stereotyped instructions about indications and pressures, when the purchaser impatiently interrupted him. "Yes, yes," said he, "that's all right, but what I want to know is, how do you set the thing when you want it to rain?"

Their Ill Success. Chicago doctor opines that the average woman loves a cave man. But most of them have to be content with flat dwellers.

Altogether Different. A parish minister on his rounds was approaching a country cottage, when he was met by two small parishioners coming toddling out of it. One of them, a little fellow of about four, cheerfully halted the reverend gentleman with a friendly, "Hello, man!" "Wheest, Tammy," was the whispered rebuke of the other, who was a year or two older, "that's no man; that's a minister."

New Idea in Penal Reform. Chocolate and music have been introduced into a Swiss prison, with the idea of reforming the inmates.

Pernicious Doctrine. Nonresistance is for the nonconstructive man, for the hermit in the cave and the naked saint in the dust; the builder and maker with the first stroke of his foundation spade uses force and opens war against the anti-builder.—H. G. Wells.

Saves Leg Of Boy. "It seemed that my 14-year old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote Dr. F. Howard Agnew, N. C. "All remedies and doctors' treatment failed till we tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, etc. 25c at People's Drug Co.

For Foreign Traveler.

One of the best gifts for a person taking foreign travels is a small down pillow, covered with fancy silk. This cushion should be about 12x18 inches, or a little larger. The silk should be of colors that will not show soil. The comfort given by this on steamers and trains cannot be overestimated.

One of Life's Best Assets.

One of the most valuable assets with which a young man can start in life is a character for industry and honesty.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, October 23, 1872—A proposition from Beloit manufacturers has reached Mayor Sutherland for the convening at Janesville of all persons interested in the improvement of the water power of Rock River. The proposed convention is for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of forming a reservoir of Lake Koshkonong or one of the lakes further up the stream, which will exist as a feeder during the seasons of drouth. The necessity for such a reservoir has been keenly felt along the river since the removal of the Horicon dam. During the summer months manufacturing establishments which rely upon the river for power are unable to perform more than one-half the work given their capacity under full head. Therefore we deem this subject one of the paramount importance to the Rock River manufacturers. If the difficulty can be remedied by work of a convention let us have a convention. It would be in place for the Janesville water power owners to take the initiatory steps if the convention is to be held in this city.

It is designed to hold a general temperance meeting in this city on some Sabbath evening not far distant to be addressed by the citizens of Janesville. It is expected that preachers, doctors, lawyers, laymen and all good friends of order will lend a helping hand, and be present in this time of need, and as we have a reasonable assurance of this it will without doubt be one of the most interesting and profitable temperance meetings ever held in the Bower City. The meeting will probably gather in one of the largest churches, so that there will be room enough to accommodate the people who shall assemble to aid in this movement for the right and to encourage all to sustain our worthy mayor and council. Good music suitable for the occasion will be provided. Time and place will be duly announced.

Hon. J. B. Cassoday of this city went down to Beloit last night and in a speech of an hour and a half knocked the foundation from under Doolittle's arguments. Mr. Cassoday always has the material in his head for pulverizing democratic speeches. In this instance he succeeded admirably.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams
BY WALT MASON

The scarecrow, all swelled up with pride, was boasting of its worth. "I do more good each day," it sighed, "than any man on earth. I guard the granger's corn and wheat from hungry birds of prey; they come, the whole blamed crop to eat, see me, and fly away. I stand out here in rain and sun, all soaked in honest sweat; and though my work is never done, small credit do I get. I willly wave my wooden arms; and kick my jointless shanks, to chase the bazzards from the farms, and no one gives me thanks. If I should loaf around in town and thus neglect my trust, the flouring mills would all close down; the bakeries would bust. The banks and factories would fail; you'd soon hear famine's tread; you'd hear the hungry housewife's wail, while children cried for bread. Prosperity is holding sway, and peace beyond all words, because I stay here day by day, and scare the doggone birds. But people don't appreciate the good I do, old chap; they really ought to nominate me for some public snap. Just then the farmer came and threw a scarecrow on his nose. "This effigy," he said, "will do for kindling I suppose." No scarecrows so important here that when deprived of power the world will be thrown out of gear for more than half an hour.

Curious Result of Adder's Bite.

As the result of an adder bite, recently, the back of the hand of a Cardiff (Wales) boy named J. W. Coffy has become marked like an adder. The physician who is attending the case states that the skin and swollen flesh near the bite are like a piece of leather, pigmented exactly the same as an adder, the white streak or ring running round the dark mottled ground.

How Many People See An Auction Bill?

Figure it out yourself. If you get say 1500 bills. If every single bill were seen and read by five people—a high estimate—you would reach 7500 people. But the average is not nearly so high. A great many are not read by more than one or two; some are not read at all; some are destroyed or lost. If your bill is seen by 500 farmers (not city and village people) and read clear through by 100, you are lucky.

NOW LISTEN

If you spend a little more and put your list in The Daily and Semi-Weekly Gazette, it will be printed about 8,000 times—not 150! and it will go into the homes of over 5,000 farmers. And every one of them will read it through. Wouldn't TEN dollars in advertising be cheaper than one dollar in bills? Ask any man who has tried both.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.
The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.
There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.
Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as being fraudulent and where there is question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.
But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper and find its way into the columns.
The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.
